Congregationalists Elect Rev. MacLeod Moderator

North Street Congregational Church in Middletown Selected as Place for Holding 1928 Convention at Closing Session of Hudson River Association of Congregational Churches Meeting Here.

The Rev. Alexander B. MacLeod of Poughkeepsie was elected moderator of the Hudson River Association of Congregational Ministers and Churches at the closing session of the fifty-third annual convention today in the Ponckhockie Congregational Church on Abruyn street of which the Rev. F. W. Moot is pastor. The other officers elected were: Vice moderator, the Rev. Martin L. Dalton of Howells; registrar, the Rev. Edward P. Treat of Spring Valley, and treasurer, Theodore L. Reese of Middletown.

The convention accepted an invitation to hold the 1928 convention in the North Street Congregational Church in Middletown.

Wednesday's Sessions.

The convention convened on Wednesday afternoon when the delegates were welcomed by the Rev. F. W. Moot, pastor of the entertaining church. The opening of the convention was preceded by the serving of a buffet luncheon by the ladies of the Ponckhockie Church in charge of Mrs. Thomas Sullivan, chairlady. The dinner at night was served by a committee of ladies in charge of Mrs. Cecil Vail and Mrs. Albert Ashby.

There were several interesting addresses delivered at the afternoon session. One was by the newly elected moderator, the Rev. Alexander B. MacLeod, on "The Real Function of the Church" and by Prof. Warren C. Taylor of Union College on "Young People and the Church".

Mrs. Henry F. White, president of the Women's Home Missionary Union of New York state, delivered an interesting missionary address on "An Adventure in Cooperation" and the Rev. Walter H. Rollins, superintendent of New York State Congregational Churches, also delivered a masterly address.

The association sermon was delivered by the Rev. Charles S. Hager of Albany who took as his topic "The Mind of Christ".

The sermon was followed by a communion service in charge of the Rev. T. L. Leverett and the Rev. Harold R. Coleman.

The Evening Service.

Wednesday evening's service was one of the most interesting of the convention and was marked by masterly addresses by the Rev. Dr. Lucas Boeve, pastor of the First Dutch Reformed Church of this city who spoke on "The Minister and the Church of Today," and the Rev. Ansel E. Johnson, assistant secretary of the commission on missions.

Other addresses were made by the Rev. R. A. Dudley, a missionary to India, and the Rev. O. A. Smith of Nogales, Arizona, who spoke on the work in their field.

During the evening the church choir rendered a musical program and Mrs. John B. Osterhoudt sang a solo.

Closing Session.

This morning at 8 o'clock the delegates met in the church parlors when they were served with breakfast by a committee of ladies in charge of Mrs. John B. Osterhoudt which was followed by morning prayer in the church with the devotions led by the Rev. George W. Pender of Newburgh.

The opening address of the morning session was delivered by Otis A. Allen who spoke on "Organizing the Work of the Church for the Year" and was followed by an address by the Rev. George A. Brock on "Absentees, Local and Non-resident." The addresses were followed by a discussion of both topics by members of the convention.

The Rev. Dr. Walter H. Rollins, superintendent of the New York State Congregational Churches, had charge of the pastor's hour when the work of the church and the pastor was fully discussed.

Delegates Were Delighted.

At the business session following the election of officers and the selection of the convention city for 1928, the delegates went on record as highly appreciative of the hospitality extended by the entertaining church and extended a vote of thanks to the Rev. Mr. Moot and to the ladies of the church who had served the delegates with meals.

The convention closed with the reading of the minutes of the convention and was followed with the serving of dinner in the church parlors by a committee of ladies in charge of Mrs. Anna Tammany. At the dinner brief remarks were made by Mrs. A. L. Packham on "What Do the Women Want?" and by the Rev. F. W. Moot on "What You Have Done For Us."

The Rev. Dr. Rollins was to have spoken but was forced to leave suddenly in order to be in New York by this evening.

Ladies Also Met.

The meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Hudson River Association was held in the church parsonage this morning and after a devotional service reports of officers were received and Mrs. Henry F. White, president of the union, delivered an address.

The convention was one of the largest ever held by the association.

Copeland Sees Smith Victory

Says Backing and Support of South Will Assure Nomination and Election—Predictions From Former Senator Pomerene and Mrs. Florence Atkins.

Washington, Oct. 20 (AP).—Senator Copeland of New York, former Senator Pomerene of Ohio, and Mrs. Florence Atkins of Georgia, are the most recent Democratic leaders to make public expression of their views on the presidential possibilities of Governor Smith of New York, Copeland predicting victory with the aid of the south, Pomerene without committing himself endorsing the Smith candidacy, and Mrs. Atkins declaring tersely that his nomination would spell "party suicide."

With the backing and support of the south, said Senator Copeland, Smith's nomination and election are assured. He declared that southern opposition was not "so strong as it appeared" and looked hopefully for assistance from Dixie.

After enumerating 17 western and middlewestern states whose delegations, he said, would be for Smith and adding to these New England and the Atlantic coast states, the New York senator declared he could not believe "the matter of religion would consolidate the south against the sterling manhood and democracy of Governor Smith," or cause it to "flaunt the wishes of a larger group of electoral votes than the south possesses."

Pomerene's endorsement was contained in a magazine article appearing today. He praised Governor Smith's accomplishments in New York and defended his attitude toward prohibition. "It is better," he said, "to have a president personally 'wet' who will enforce the law, than a president personally 'dry' who will not or cannot enforce it." He declared, however, that there were so many able leaders that he did not want to seem unequivocally committed.

The south does not intend to support Governor Smith should he be nominated. Mrs. Atkins said last night in an address before the state convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union at Huntington, W. Va. "The party," she declared, "will go down in dust and ashes at our feet if he gets the nomination. I'd hate to see the Democratic party commit suicide but if a party has no keener vision or no greater love for its country than to nominate Al Smith for the presidency, I say that it deserves to die and we are ready for a new party."

Register Friday Or Saturday

Friday and Saturday are the last two days for registration in Kingston for the fall election. If you are not registered you cannot vote. The polls will open at 10 o'clock Friday morning and remain open until 10 o'clock that evening. Voting machines will be found in every polling place where voters may receive instructions in the use of the machines which will be used for the first time at the election in November.

Legion Delegates Welcomed Home

Kingston Post Greets National Convention Delegates on Their Return From Paris and Holds Reception for Them and Delegates of Ladies' Auxiliary.

The American Legion welcomed home Wednesday night, with a fine demonstration, the delegates to the National Legion convention in Paris. It was the most colorful event for the local Post since the beginning of the American Legion.

As Eugene B. Carey and Andrew J. Murphy, Jr., stepped off the 7:15 train, the Legion Drum Corps rent the air with "Hail, Hail the Gang's All Here". It was a great surprise to the homecoming delegates as the corps was organized after their departure and they knew nothing of it.

Looking much the same as when they went away, Carey and Murphy, their faces wreathed in smiles, were led to a waiting automobile, decked in bunting and were driven in the parade back to the Memorial Building.

The drum corps fell in line in front of the Legion Building at 7 o'clock and headed by Burton L. Castle, drum major, preceded by the colors, started up Broadway to the West Shore station. Behind the corps, the American Legion Boy Scout troop marched with "Welcome Home" banners. Police kept the traffic back while the Legionnaires proceeded along Broadway. The curbs were lined with cheering spectators. Honking of automobile horns, picturesque red lights, and vigorous applause greeted the marchers to the station.

The West Shore gates delayed the proceedings for ten minutes by halting the corps and traffic generally to let a long freight pull by. Then behind the freight came the delegates' train and the drum corps arrived about three minutes after the train. On the return march there was no interruption and the corps played various selections all the way back to the building.

Reception at Memorial Building.

The marchers kept on into the assembly room, playing meanwhile until the delegates were ready to enter. As Carey and Murphy, accompanied by Mrs. Stanley J. Matthews and Mrs. Edwin Ashby, entered the room, at a signal from Drum Major Castle, the corps again played "Hail Hail". The delegates took seats of honor near the commander. As the corps ceased playing, "three cheers" were given and Commander Heiselman rapped the meeting to order.

Then Mr. Heiselman, in a few brief words, welcomed the returning members in the name of the Post.

"They left our shores and went to the great American Legion Paris convention as our delegates," the commander said. "While they were gone, we have prayed for their safe return and to show our affection for them, we have arranged this greeting for them."

Bouquets for Auxiliary Delegates.

Mr. Heiselman presented a bouquet of roses to State Vice-President of the Auxiliary Mrs. Matthews, and another to Mrs. Ashby, third district chairman of the Auxiliary.

Mrs. Ashby, dressed in black, with beige trimming, and a small black hat set jauntily on her head, expressed her pleasure at the reception. She said she had a wonderful time but was very glad to get back to the shores of United States again. Mrs. Matthews was dressed in a similar manner. Her neat black hat looked as though it was bought in Paris.

Mrs. Matthews responded very gracefully to demands for a speech by saying as a final word that "it did not take half as much courage to get into an airplane in Paris as it did to make a speech before this home welcoming assemblage." The two women delegates were received enthusiastically by Legionnaires and auxiliary that packed the hall to overflowing into the corridors.

Drums for Legion Delegates.

Mr. Carey was presented with a snare drum. He is going to do his part in the drum corps. Mr. Murphy was presented with a base drum. He had a little difficulty in struggling into the harness. When they were all ready, the corps again played its favorite piece of the night, with Carey and Murphy joining in.

Commander Heiselman called on Mr. Carey for a speech, but the latter wasn't set for a speech and telling of his big surprise at the reception, particularly the drum corps, he gave way to Mr. Murphy.

Mr. Murphy, likewise, refused to use up much time in making a speech. Both he and Carey were overwhelmed by the pleasure of getting home and the great surprise welcome of the local Post, he said. After traveling all over Europe, and seeing the young women of foreign countries, he told the assemblage that he and Carey preferred the American girls to foreigners anytime. This pleased the ladies present and they applauded vigorously. "We got a royal reception every place we went," he said. "There was no friction anywhere and harmony prevailed throughout. Everywhere the people shouted 'Vive la Americans.'" Mr. Murphy has never missed a national or state convention.

Commander Heiselman thanked the Legion Boy Scouts for the part they took in the celebration and complimented Scout Master Edward Duedtke on his splendid organization. Refreshments were then served, after which the Boy Scouts gave skillful demonstrations of Scout work, including boxing, knot tying, bandaging, life saving and artificial respiration.

Serious Damage From Floods in Penna. Sections

Western and Central Pennsylvania Remain In Grip of Storm, While Philadelphia Welcomes Bright Sun—Two Deaths Attributed To Storm.

Philadelphia, Oct. 20 (AP).—Western and central Pennsylvania remained today in the grip of the storm which has been lashing the east since Sunday while Philadelphia and surrounding territory welcomed a bright sun.

Reports from many sections of the state told of flooded homes, bridges down, and interrupted railroad service as the downpour of the last several days swelled rivers and small streams to flood stages.

In the Manayunk section of this city, 6,000 residents and a dozen textile mills faced the prospects of a serious flood as the Schuykill river continued to rise. Early today a six mile current was reported.

Two deaths were attributed to the storm near Hallstead, Susquehanna county, when a Lackawanna passenger train struck a washout last night killing the fireman and engineer. The washout was caused by water rushing from the mountain side as a result of the heavy rains.

Near Wilkes-Barre the Susquehanna river had reached a flood level of 17 feet and was still rising. High water was reported at many towns on the river and nearby all the local streams were out of their banks. Two collieries were forced to suspend operations at Avoca.

Scores of homes in Scranton were flooded and bridges were washed out. Many families after being forced to the upper floors of their homes were rescued in rowboats near Carbondale. The rain had ceased at Scranton and the Lackawanna river was falling.

Several mines were flooded in the vicinity of Pottsville and Hazelton.

Stinson Plane Hits Stone Wall

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 20 (AP).—Eddie Stinson, famous aviator and president of the Stinson-Detroit Aircraft Corporatoin of Detroit, had a narrow escape from death or injury at Marion, near here, early today when his plane, in taking off on a wet field, crashed into a stone wall. The under pinning was crippled and a tire blown.

Stinson, who with his wife and a party, is on a nation-wide air tour, was forced down by fog and rain yesterday afternoon on a farm at Marion. After spending the night here, Stinson motored to Marion to pilot the plane to the municipal air field here. It is thought the ship will be repaired so that he may proceed to Buffalo later today. After the crash he was able to bring his plane into the Rochester airport without difficulty.

Little Boy Hit By Automobile

Wednesday evening about 5:30 o'clock Charles Van Gaasbeek, seven years old, of No. 114½ North Front street was knocked down by an automobile owned and driven by Andrew D. Hill of Pine Hill as the boy was crossing the street. Mr. Hill stopped his car and conveyed the boy to the Kingston City Hospital where an X-ray was taken and showed that the boy was not seriously hurt. According to Mr. Hill's report of the accident he was driving through North Front street and near Converse street the boy started to cross the road. Mr. Hill said he sounded his horn and pulled to the left to avoid hitting the boy, but the lad continued on across the street and was struck and knocked down.

AUTO REPORTED STOLEN IS QUICKLY RECOVERED.

John Bighier of Saugerties reported to the police department Wednesday afternoon that his Ford sedan had been stolen from Broadway, near Meadow street, between the hours of 2:30 and 3:30 o'clock. A description of the stolen car was given to the patrolmen and Officer Soper, on traffic duty at the Marine Band concert at the armory, stopped the car as it was driving past on Broadway and took the car and occupants to police headquarters. In the car were two young men who gave their names and ages as Tony Sanzi, 20 years old, and Frank Grimaldi, 21 years old, both of Glasco. Mr. Bighier was notified of the recovery of his car and when he called at police headquarters said he did not desire to press any charge against the young men, who were allowed to return home.

Recover Bodies of Trainmen.

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 20 (AP).—Workmen digging all night in the wreckage of Lackawanna passenger train No. 28, which ran into a washout at Hallstead, Pa., killing two members of the train crew, today recovered the bodies of Milton Esterbrook, engineer, and L. Monroe, fireman, both of Elmira, N. Y.

Highland Woman Loses Damage Suit

Jury Gives Verdict of No Cause of Action in Suit Against Nathaniel B. Gross Arising Out of Auto Collision.

A verdict of no cause of action was handed up this morning in the negligence action brought by Miss Grace Van B. Roberts of Highland against Nathaniel B. Gross of this city. A motion to set aside the verdict was taken under advisement by the court.

The action was brought by Miss Roberts against Mr. Gross to recover for damages to her automobile and $3,500 for personal injuries sustained when the cars of the two parties came together at Washington avenue and Pearl street last December. Miss Roberts and her chauffeur held that Mr. Gross was coming at a fast rate of speed while her car was traveling slowly. The chauffeur claimed his car had entered the intersection first and that he attempted to stop his car when he saw the Gross car coming but owing to the slippery condition of the street he found he could not do so, and he stepped on the gas and turned his car to the right to avoid an accident. When his car came to rest it was on the sidewalk on the northwest corner of the intersection in Washington avenue. The Gross car went over the walk on up on the lawn after the impact.

Mr. Gross, who with his wife and child were going north on Washington avenue, testified he was traveling at about 15 miles an hour and when he first saw the Packard of Miss Roberts it was traveling at least 25 miles an hour. He was in the intersection at the time but seeing that an accident was likely to take place he applied his brakes and turned to the left up Pearl street, but the Packard car struck his car on the rear right. The Packard was damaged on the rear left. After the impact Gross said his car, a Dodge sedan, was driven up over the curb and on the lawn.

Miss Roberts Walked Away.

At that time, Miss Roberts apparently was not injured to any extent and when he asked if anyone was injured she walked away and said her chauffeur would take care of the matter. Later Officer Soper arrived and observed the tracks of the car of Miss Roberts. Her car had chains on and the marks were evident.

Officer Soper said he saw marks some twenty feet down Pearl street made by the Packard car. The chauffeur pointed them out. He also saw marks in Washington avenue near the intersection but could not say they were made by the Gross car.

Gross said he did not have chains on at the time, that it had been a warm day and the snow had melted, but at the time of the accident, about 4 o'clock, it was beginning to freeze.

Gross entered a counterclaim for $119.55 damage to his car.

Miss Roberts claimed her car had been damaged to the extent of $238.50.

Judge Joseph M. Fowler and A. C. Connelly appeared for the plaintiff and Andrew J. Cook for defendant.

FOUR CHARGES REMAIN AGAINST LIEUTENANT FINCH.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 17 (AP).—Four charges remained against Lieutenant George Finch of Selfridge Field, Mich., on trial here before a court martial today after dismissal of one charge in connection with his alleged "reckless flying" over Atlanta last May.

The air officer was found not guilty on the charge of committing perjury in stating to an investigating officer that he did not use "violent and profane language" to enlisted men upon his landing here on that occasion.

Eighteen defense witnesses were summoned to testify today regarding the charges that Lieutenant Finch flew below 1,000 feet over Atlanta in violation of the army regulation prohibiting low city flying; that he used profanity to enlisted men; that he committed perjury twice in stating to an investigating officer in Washington and to his squadron commander in Kelly Field, Texas, that he flew at approximately 1,000 feet when passing over Atlanta, and that he did no stunt flying at that time.

IDENTIFIES SUSPECT WITH A RIGHT SMASH TO JAW.

Chicago, Oct. 20 (AP).—Looking over robber suspects at a police "showup", Mrs. Harry M. Gerhard, a mild-mannered young woman, suddenly stepped forward, delivered a left uppercut, followed it with a right smash to the jaw, and dropped one of the prisoners for a count of more than ten.

"That's the man!" she cried. "He's the one who choked me, tore rings from my fingers and tried to shoot my six year old son yesterday."

Thus was Louis Tisano identified.

Files Divorce Suit.

Butte, Mont., Oct. 20 (AP).—Mildred Richardson Hill, former Follies actress, has filed a suit for divorce here from Walter Hill, son of the late James J. Hill. It was revealed today.

Coal Miners Picket Mines

Wallsburg, Colo., Oct. 20 (AP).—Striking coal miners headed by the Industrial Workers of the World started picketing mines in this district this morning in defiance of authorities.

Eight automobiles carrying seven men each left I. W. W. headquarters for nearby mines. All were searched for firearms before they left headquarters.

The men were instructed to enter mining properties despite the state order to arrest all pickets.

Officials of the Rouse mine, 12 miles south of here, reported thirty pickets had evaded guards and entered camp.

Auto Negligence Action on Trial

Isaac Foster of Kingston Sues Joseph Scott of Rhinebeck, Alleging Negligent Operation of Latter's Car, Resulting in Accident.

Another automobile negligence action was taken up for trial in the supreme court this morning. Isaac Foster of this city seeks to recover damages to his car from Joseph Scott, taxi driver of Rhinebeck, whom, plaintiff alleges, through his negligence caused plaintiff's car to be driven from the road and damaged. The accident happened between Rhinecliff and Rhinebeck in November 1926.

Foster claims he was engaged as a carpenter at Blue Stores, north of Rhinebeck, and with a gang of men was on his way to his job. He left the ferry and as it was late he drove toward Rhinebeck until his car overtook several cars in line. He signaled that he intended to go by, and pulled to the left of the line. As he was about abreast of the car of Scott, he alleged Scott pulled to the left and attempted to pass the cars ahead. Foster, in order to avoid striking the Scott car, pulled to the left and his car collided with the fence. His car was wrecked. He alleges that before the accident his car was worth about $600 or $700 and that after the accident it was worth about $100. At the time he was traveling about 20 or 25 miles an hour in order to get on the job on time, since the ferry had been late.

Following the accident Scott continued on his way but returned shortly with a garage man.

The defendant, however, contends that he was proceeding along the road from the ferry at the end of the line of cars. He signalled to pass and while he was passing the cars ahead, the Foster car pulled up and attempted to pass the two cars to the left. He alleges that at the time he did not know there had been an accident until there was a crash, when the Foster car struck the fence. He proceeded up the road a distance until he found a place to turn and then he returned to the scene of the accident. He contends that the accident was not due to his negligence but solely to the negligence of the driver of the Foster car which was attempting to pass three abreast. He alleges that Foster lost control of his car as he was in the act of passing and collided with the fence. At no time did the Foster and Scott cars come in contact, according to the defendant.

Milton O. Auchmoody appears for the plaintiff and Roscoe V. Elsworth of Brinnier, Canfield & Elsworth appears for the defendant.

No Shooting in Limits of City

Hunters seem to be unaware of the fact that the discharge of firearms is not permitted within the city limits, and that shooting of pheasants on the lowlands of the Esopus creek within the city is prohibited. There are a number of pheasants on the lowlands which have been made pets by residents along Albany avenue and to protect the birds from being shot by hunters police headquarters assigned Officer Komasa to duty in that locality. Today was the first day of the open season on the birds.

WILL MARRY HIS DAUGHTER'S CLASSMATE.

Boston, Oct. 20 (AP).—An unusual romance was brought to light here today with confirmation by Lieutenant Governor Frank G. Allen of a report from Pittsburgh that he is to marry Miss Eleanor H. Wallace of that city, '25 grad from Wellesley and a classmate there of his daughter, Mary.

Mr. Allen is 53 years old and his fiancee is 27.

Miss Wallace taught for a year in a private school in Brookline and last June, in company with the Lieutenant governor and his daughter, went abroad for a trip from which they only recently returned for the marriage of Miss Allen to Francis V. Crane of Dedham.

GEORGE ROBINSON IS IN CRITICAL CONDITION.

George Robinson of 26 North Wilbur avenue, who was struck by an automobile on Wilbur avenue several days ago, is in a critical condition at the Kingston City Hospital as the result of his injuries.

Moses Testifies Mrs. Knapp Said She Burned Papers

Secretary of State Declares Mrs. Knapp Admitted She Destroyed Records—Says Reply Was Evasive To His Request For Records.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 20 (AP).—Secretary of State Robert Moses testified at the state census investigation today that Mrs. Florence B. S. Knapp, his predecessor, had told him she had burned certain census records which were missing from the files of the state department.

Mr. Moses declared that when he took over his office early this year he had found almost no census records of consequence except the tabulation figures, and that "everything else had disappeared," including some records relating to voting machines. Other missing papers, he said, were correspondence, payrolls and work sheets.

The secretary said he had communicated with Mrs. Knapp at her home in Syracuse, by telephone and letter, requesting the return of the records. Even Attorney General Ottinger had called Mrs. Knapp "once or twice," the witness said, in an effort to get the papers.

Moses declared that he received from the former secretary a letter in reply to his request, but that he has not been able to find the answer.

"It is not in the files," he said. "I have searched everywhere."

Reply Was Evasive.

Mrs. Knapp's reply, he recalled, was "evasive" and insisted that only her personal papers had been taken from the files for shipment to the former secretary.

On June 7 last, the witness testified, Mrs. Knapp had telephoned that she wished to see him. This was after he had received a preliminary report of the cities census committee's investigation of the 1925 enumeration, which resulted in the charges of maladministration placed against Mrs. Knapp by that organization.

Mr. Moses said he told Mrs. Knapp that if she wished to talk over the "cities census matter" he did not care to have her come, since that was out of his hands, but that he would like to talk to her about the records. Mrs. Knapp came to Albany on the same day.

Mrs. Luella V. Nindé, who testified yesterday concerning checks and vouchers signed by Mrs. Knapp, attended the conference between the former secretary and Mr. Moses and Oliver B. James, first deputy attorney-general, was also present, the witness asserted.

Mrs. Knapp, he continued, opened the conference by discussing members of the Cities Census Committee and characterizing in "various ways".

"Pleasantly or unpleasantly?" interrupted Randall J. Le Boeuf, the investigator.

"Unpleasantly", said Moses.

"Says She Burned Them".

He added that he told Mrs. Knapp this line of conversation was beside the question, and that he would prefer to have her talk about the missing records.

"After a considerable amount of discussion", continued Moses, "she told me she had burned them".

"Did she tell you when?" asked Mr. Le Boeuf.

"No".

"Was it prior or subsequent to your letter to her on the subject in February?"

"I do not know", answered Moses. "I did not ask her. I do not know as to whether we ever agreed as to what records were there. I told her I meant the records in her room here at the office. She said finally that they were all more or less personal, that there was quite a volume of them, that she had no place or use for them and that therefore she had to destroy them. Of course Mrs. Knapp went down the hall later and saw the governor and talked with him."

Mr. Moses also testified that Mrs. Knapp had recommended a supplemental census appropriation of $360,000 to complete the tabulation. The amount for this work was cut to $160,000, the secretary asserted, adding that it had subsequently been estimated that the task could have been done for less than $80,000.

Opposed Completion of Census.

Mr. Moses said he had opposed completion of the census when the additional appropriation was proposed, asserting that he doubted the "accuracy and value" of the state enumeration.

"Also," he added, "I didn't relish the idea of dragging this dead horse around the state by the tail."

Asked by Mr. Le Boeuf for his ideas as to the necessity of the state census, Mr. Moses replied:

"I began by being opposed to it before all this, and I certainly have found nothing to change my opinion."

Asked if he had formed any opinion as to the accuracy of the tabulation, the witness said he had told Dr. Haven Emerson, head of the Cities' Census Committee, that he doubted its accuracy.

"It was not well made at the top and it was probably not well made at the bottom," the secretary added.

He said he and Mr. Emerson had been discussing the possibility of an appropriation to complete the 1925 tabulation, and that he had told the committee chairman he would oppose any appropriation unless the money was to pay for having the

Sincerity Is Invaluable

Sincerity is the foundation. Without this rare but basic element, all that follows will be insecure. Emerson once said, "What you are speaks so loud I cannot hear what you say." One of the prophets said, "The show of their countenance maketh them known." A man's real self rings out in his voice, peers out through his eyes, and stamps itself upon his face, bearing, attitude and all that he does and says. Value sincerity. You may not conform to the ideas of others, but whatever set principles you select as your infallible code, be true to them, believe in them and exemplify them.—Psychology Magazine.

Work With Hands and Feet

Craftsmen who fashion trinkets with their hands and feet still thrive in and around the Great Bazar, a little, townlike city of its own on one of the seven hills of Stamboul, Turkey. Copper and iron smiths hammer out their wares in small recesses along the miles of arcades in the great, irregular stone building that is dark, smelly and dusty with the dust of centuries. Woodworkers in booths around this building use a bare foot and one hand to hold their cutting chisel in turning objects on small lathes.

"How so?"

"Well, he managed to marry a wilder lady, and has just found out that her first husband was a gent he had helped to lynch about two months ago. He ain't discovered yet whether she don't know it or just naturlerly married him out of revenge. But, either way, he is expecting something to happen any minute."—Los Angeles Times.

"We people of the theatre are, as a rule, extremists. This is the reflex action from overwrought nerves. When a man smokes forty cigarettes a day, as I do, he must be sure of his brand. I smoke Lucky Strikes because I have found they are soothing to the nerves and at the same time they cause no throat irritation. My voice is always in perfect condition and I am never troubled by any coughing which might be annoying to me in my work as an actor."

Willard Mack

You, too, will find that LUCKY STRIKES give the greatest pleasure—Mild and Mellow, the finest cigarettes you ever smoked. Made of the choicest tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"IT'S TOASTED"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation - No Cough.

Continue Attacks In Oil Conspiracy

Special Government Oil Counsel Attempts To Show Fall's Desire Went To The Extent of Misleading Other Applicants.

Washington, Oct. 20 (AP).—Introducing testimony designed to show that Albert B. Fall's desire for secrecy as to his negotiations with Harry F. Sinclair for the lease of Teapot Dome went to the extent of misleading other applicants for the naval oil reserve, special government oil counsel continued their assaults today at the trial of the two men on charges of criminal conspiracy.

Recalling E. C. Finney, assistant secretary of the interior under Fall, who testified yesterday, Owen J. Roberts, of government counsel, introduced letters written by interior officials to inquirers about the lease.

As early as February 25, 1922, C. B. Apland of Minneapolis inquired whether the lease of Teapot Dome was in prospect. Finney replied that no lease had been granted and that no orders had been issued for opening up the reserve to leasing.

"Did you have knowledge that Fall was negotiating a lease with Sinclair at that time?" inquired Roberts.

"Yes, I did," Finney replied.

"Then why did you make such a reply to Mr. Apland?"

"Because the policy was not to give out any information on the subject."

"From whom did you get that?"

"I understood that was the secretary's desire."

Defense counsel objected sharply to the witness's "understanding".

"From what source did your understanding come," Roberts pursued.

"I was advised by the secretary himself, and also by the contents of one or two letters I saw."

Fall followed this line of examination very closely. He appeared in better physical shape than heretofore. Mrs. Fall, who has been indisposed for two days, also was able to be back in the court room.

HIGH FALLS

High Falls, Oct. 20.—Mr. and Mrs. James Coddington and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Crandell of New Brunswick, N. J., were guests of Mrs. Martha Sheeley several days this week.

Mrs. E. D. Kortright and Miss M. C. Van Wagenen were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey DeWitt at Alligerville Thursday last.

Miss Mary Kelley and Mrs. Hugh Farrell visited friends in Kingston one day last week.

Mrs. E. Lalor expects soon to close her home and spend the winter with her children in the city.

Mrs. M. Ikes entertained a number of city friends over the week end and accompanied them back to New York city.

The Ku Klux Klan held an open air meeting in this neighborhood last week and drew a large crowd.

David Rosenbaum, who recently purchased the Gray property, has nearly completed furnishing it with every convenience. His home is newly furnished throughout. He has an up-to-date barber shop equipped with modern improvements. Mr. Rosenbaum expects to open up a drug store in the future.

Jacob Feinberg, who bought the old S. R. Keator store, has remodeled the lower floor into an apartment with all improvements and a large waiting room for the convenience of the bus passengers. Etherbert Mead has rented the lower floor and Harry Van Kleek the apartment on the second floor.

Mr. and Mrs. John Smith of Alligerville were guests of Mrs. E. D. Kortright last Wednesday.

Mrs. Sarah Van Wagenen of Poughkeepsie was a recent visitor of her sisters, Mrs. E. Stall, and Mrs. Rachel Doughty. Mrs. Van Wagenen, who is 92 years old, enjoys good health and frequently visits her children in New Jersey.

Mrs. M. E. Sheeley and nieces spent Saturday with Mrs. George LeFevre.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Roach and children, Edward and May, and Mrs. F. Young and daughter, Eileen, were callers at the Farrell home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George N. LeFevre spent Sunday with Mrs. Kortright. In the afternoon they motored to Marbletown and called on Mr. and Mrs. Charles Markie.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dyer have returned home after a pleasant week's visit with their daughter in New Jersey.

FIRST MID-OCEAN AIRPORT AT ISLAND OF FAYAL.

Horta, Island of Fayal, Azores, Oct. 20 (AP).—Plans for the establishment here of the first mid-ocean airport have begun to take definite shape.

Materials which have reached here on the German vessel Eupatoria for use in making repairs to planes using the Island of Fayal as a port of call on transatlantic flights have been assigned a hangar where work of that kind will be carried on.

A meteorological station also has been established with six men assigned to its operation.

Intense interest has been aroused by reports from Berlin that Director Kiep, of the Hamburg-American Line, has gone to the United States to negotiate for a hydro airplane service between Germany and the United States.

Jersey, Tweed for Twelve-to-Twenty

Either Alone, or Combined, Smart for Fall Sports Outfit.

A suitable slogan for anyone seeking to sum up the sports interests for girls of twelve to twenty might be phrased thus: "Jersey and tweeds, jerseys and tweeds—these are the sports clothes that every girl needs."

The prevailing notion of a smart sports costume for fall is tweed and jersey—or both. The tweed may be one of the heavy nubby ones that look well in top coats. Or it may be plain, jacquard, checked, cheviot-weave or plaid. In fact, it may be many more things too numerous to mention.

And the jersey is no less versatile. It may be the plain everyday wool jersey that can be bought on any counter. It may be embroidered. Or it may be knitted in combinations of silk and wool, in colors and in patterns that suggest or perhaps were really originated by Rodier.

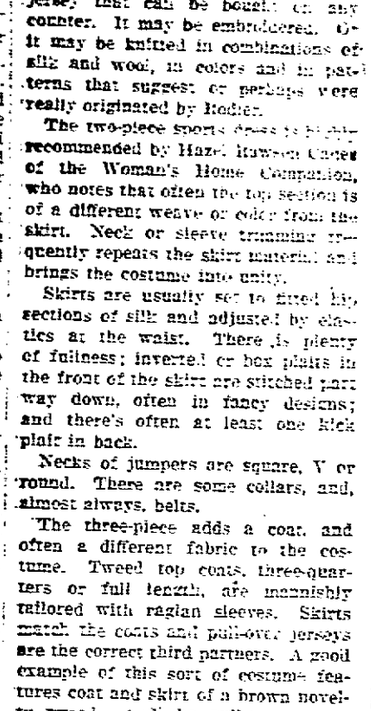
The two-piece sports dress is highly recommended by Hazel Rawson Carter of the Woman's Home Companion, who notes that often the top section is of a different weave or color from the skirt. Neck or sleeve trimming frequently repeats the skirt material and brings the costume into unity.

Skirts are usually set to fitted hip sections of silk and adjusted by elastics at the waist. There is plenty of fullness; inverted or box plaits in the front of the skirt are stitched part way down, often in fancy designs; and there's often at least one kick plait in back.

Necks of jumpers are square, V or round. There are some collars, and, almost always, belts.

The three-piece adds a coat, and often a different fabric to the costume. Tweed top coats, three-quarters or full length, are mannishly tailored with raglan sleeves. Skirts match the coats and pull-over jerseys are the correct third partners. A good example of this sort of costume features coat and skirt of a brown novelty tweed. And the pull-over jersey is of silk and wool knit, with belt and trimming of the tweed.

This costume gives plenty of warmth, but in California or Florida or Virginia or Texas, a lighter version of the three-piece may be more useful. That is why Miss Cades shows the costume at the right, with a shorter coat.



Coat, Skirt of Brown Novelty Tweed, and Lighter Weight Model.

The basic material for this is a natural kasha-colored jersey, but the body of the sweater and the sleeves are striped with horizontal woven bands of black and purple, ending in little arrow heads.

For wet football games, there are new rubberized raincoats. They are reversible, which in this case means a choice of black, or black and white pin checks. The Eastern college girl may root for Harvard with the dark red side, and use the tan covert effect for days when she steps out with Yale.

At the risk of saying something that has often been said before, it might well be remarked that sports accessories are a special brand. The jersey and tweeds should not be spoiled with a bead bag and silk stockings.

The simplest soft little floppy brim felt hat looks well, and it doesn't need any trimming. A flat leather envelope bag, the rather loose slip-on gloves, are the things to buy. Oxfords or ties or strap pumps of moderately heavy weight and sports effect, and stockings of lisle or wool are correct in appearance, and give good wear. Belts are called for in almost every fall sports costume, and there is a good chance here to use some of the smart leather ones that are being shown, and to work a matching-up scheme with pocketbook, gloves or shoes.

Velvet Tams for Winter

If you are wondering whether velvet hats of the late summer will carry over into the winter—they are being renewed by the addition of a new model—a soft little velvet tam banded with grosgrained ribbon and crushed becomingly over one side of the head to the ear.

KINGSTON, N. Y., OCT. 20, 1927.

A BUSINESS PROPOSITION.

Does the fact that the registration for the first two days in the City of Kingston has increased mean that the voters have gained interest in the government of the city? Or does it mean that some "missionary" work has been done in getting the "loud speakers" to the polling places. Heretofore the very ones who did not register and therefore did not vote were the loudest to enter complaints against the way the city was being run.

There are many reasons that could be advanced on this subject of increased registration and one of them appears at least to be plausible, to wit: The mayor of the City of Kingston will henceforth substantially devote his time to the conduct of the administration of the city, for which he will receive $5,000 per annum. In paying this salary the taxpayers believe that a man of sound judgment, foresight, integrity and business acumen should be chosen to this office in preference to the politician, who is able to muster out a large vote, despite his qualifications. The purpose of making the office of mayor of the City of Kingston a salaried office was to do away with the patronage seeking politician, who cared more for his political future than for the best interests of the city.

Mayor Edgar J. Dempsey is not a politician, handshaker, spellbinder or idol of a certain clique. He is an accountant and knows the value of a dollar both from his employer's standpoint and his own personal station. Further increase in registration will not be surprising if the taxpayers of the city will really take an intelligent interest in public affairs and in selecting the right man to oversee the handling of their money.

YOUTH AND MIDDLE-AGE.

It has been explained that American employers prefer young men to middle-aged men not only because the former demand less pay but work harder and are more amenable to discipline, causing the Manchester (England) Guardian to wonder if American youth are really distinguished by such "exceptional earnestness" as will compensate for the steadiness and reliability of middle age. The statistical figures seem to indicate that there is doubt about this even among American employers and that young men are given the preference and older workers rejected less often than is supposed. There is an impression that under the growing stress and strain of modern economic life youth walks in and middle-age walks out with increasing frequency, but the figures presented in a recent discussion of this subject would seem to indicate somewhat of a trend the other way.

We read that according to the 1910 census the men over 45 engaged in gainful occupations constituted 55.9 per cent of all men in that age class, and that in the 1920 census the proportion was 57 per cent—an apparent increase in the employment opportunities for the middle-aged. The 1920 census also showed an employment ratio of 97.2 per cent for men between 25 and 44 years of age, and a ratio of 93.8 per cent for men between 45 and 64 years. This difference of about 3.5 per cent is hardly great enough to indicate that youth is rapidly occupying the field. And it is obvious that with the increased use of machinery in industry there is decreased need of youthful muscle as well as increased need of "steadiness". The inevitable conclusion is that industry has wide room for both the young and the middle-aged, the latter for the less physically strenuous but equally important work.

BRAINS AND SCHOOL LUNCHES.

School children's lunches are now a recognized branch of the educational system. In the big cities model lunch rooms are run for both junior high and senior high pupils and it has been estimated that 75 per cent of the students buy all or part of their lunch in them.

In the country, where lunch-carrying is still the rule for big and little children, lunches are more sensible than they used to be. The thermos bottle makes it possible for the mother to supply a child to whom a cup of hot soup is the lunch hit, and the latter has learned that celery, fruit in season, leaner sandwiches and a small piece of cake are better than pie, pickles, hard meat and rich pastry.

In some city schools undernourished children are given nourishing food and milk and crackers. Normal children may buy certain varieties of milk and graham crackers for three cents in the regular lunch room, pupils may procure well balanced and appetizing meals for a little more money.

What does all this have to do with education? Quite a good deal, for the same brain works better when in accompanying body is healthy and properly fed than when it is not. Is it not better for pupils to be alert and able to put their best effort into their lessons and for teachers to have such pupils to work with? Taxpayers who grumble at all "freak" school expense should consider the lunch room from the standpoint of brain efficiency.

The 166th egg laid in 166 consecutive days by Lady Norfolk, a Nebraska Leghorn, has been sent by airplane to President Coolidge. It seems to have been thought desirable thus to flatter the hens of the United States with a view to hearten them for their duty of laying "700 eggs per second" so that the American public may continue its annual per capita consumption of 215 eggs.

The San Francisco Chronicle thinks that the way to prohibit is to abolish prohibitions, and cites the case of the famous Hooker oak in Chico which for years was hacked by curio seekers in spite of walls, barbed wire and guards, but as soon as all such difficulties of approach were removed the hacking stopped, and now the tree stands "unsheltered and also unabused."

BLEEDING FOR OPIUM POISONING.

You will remember your instructions in first aid in the treatment of opium poisoning, that is morphine, or more frequently laudanum.

As the patient is wont to go to sleep you were advised that every means possible should be used to keep him awake.

Accordingly he was to be "walked" up and down, beaten by towels, given strong coffee and so forth, all with the idea of preventing him from lapsing into deep sleep, unconsciousness, and death.

However these heroic measures are now passing into disuse, and the washing out of the stomach by means of a stomach pump, using weak permanganate solutions, is now the first thought in treatment.

You can readily see that if the poison or a portion of it is removed, there is just that much more chance of recovery.

Along with this is inhaling pure oxygen, which, as you know helps to stimulate heart and lungs, and the vital processes generally.

A British physician records a case that was treated by still another method, and one that at once appears to be quite logical.

The patient had swallowed some six ounces of laudanum, at least half an hour before the physician arrived.

Notwithstanding the washing out of the stomach the patient went rapidly into a stupor, which deepened into complete unconsciousness, and the lungs began to fill with water. Death was but a short ways off. At this stage the vein in the arm was opened, venesection as it is called, and immediately the beneficial effects were apparent, the patient going on to complete recovery.

It does seem like common sense to rid the system of some of this poisoned blood by the old fashioned method of bleeding, that is the opening of a vein.

It reminds us that the physician of former days used this method of ridding the body of many ills.

It certainly has its place along with other methods in the treatment of various ailments.

EDDYVILLE.

Eddyville, Oct. 20.—The M. E. Church of Eddyville has been holding revival meetings at the church for the past two weeks. The congregation and their pastor, the Rev. C. G. Gorse of Port Ewen, are very thankful to have had Robert Mook of Millerton, N. Y., to preside at their meetings as his sermons have been very inspiring. They also greatly appreciated the attendance at these meetings of their many friends from Port Ewen, Kingston, Rifton, New Salem and St. Remy.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the church held a semi-monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. H. Twele of St. Remy. The meeting was opened with the reading of the scripture by Mrs. W. Brunner and Pastor Gorse offered prayer, the minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. Du Bois, a committee was appointed to make arrangements for an entertainment and supper to be held early in November, the proceeds of which will be used towards the repairing of the church. The new officers are: Mrs. W. Brunner, president; Mrs. G. Gorse, vice president; Mrs. Vining, treasurer; Mrs. DuBois, financial secretary. Those present at the meeting including the officers were, Mrs. M. Plank, Mrs. C. Curtis, Mrs. L. Crispell, Mrs. William Crispell, Mrs. John Crispell, Mrs. G. Sharts, Mrs. G. Grommel, Mrs. T. Van Vliet, Mrs. L. Van Vliet. New members taken were Mrs. Mary Haines, Mrs. B. Ostrander, Mrs. A. Reithmiller, Miss Sarah Burger. It is hoped to have more members for the next meeting to be held at Mrs. C. Curtis's home on Church Hill, Thursday, October 27, at 2 o'clock.

Pastor and Mrs. G. C. Gorse of Port Ewen, Robert Mook of Millerton, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Reithmiller of New York city were guests at a dinner party held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Curtis on Church Hill.

COTTEKILL.

Cottekill, Oct. 20.—Sunday school for the entire community will be held in the Cottekill Reformed Church next Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

At the Methodist Church next Sunday at 3:15 the subject of the message will be "The Crucifixion in Cottekill." An object-lesson sermonette for the children will be entitled "The Fire That Cannot Burn." Mr. and Mrs. Smith will sing.

The official board of the M. E. Church will hold its business meeting in the church Friday night at 7:30 prompt.

Garton Keator has received the tax list of the school district and is now receiving taxes at his residence.

This town, it is hoped, will be represented by two of our leading citizens, Prof. R. J. Emerick and ex-Judge L. B. Connor, who have received nominations on the Republican ticket for the respective offices of justice of the peace and town auditor. Their friends wish them success.

Mrs. Elizabeth Jones and daughter, Blanche, report a very enjoyable trip to Lake George.

Walter Schaefer and family have moved to Cornwall-on-the-Hudson. They will be missed from this community.

Harry Snyder and Joseph Berringer have installed water systems in their residences. Rose & Douglas of Ellenville are doing the work.

MAY HUNTERS SHOOT CATS IN DOORYARDS?

Esopus, N. Y., Oct. 19, 1927.

To the Editor of The Freeman.

Sir:

I am writing you this and hope you will consider it with favor for publication in your worthy paper. I have been a reader of The Kingston Freeman for many years. In Friday's Freeman I read an address given by Llewellyn Legge from WHAZ, Troy, N. Y., in regard to killing vermin such as cats, foxes and other things when afield hunting.

He possibly has forgotten that the farmer values a cat just as much as a sportsman does his dog or his pet terrier which he carries in the pocket of his hunting coat. How is a farmer going to protect his grain and produce from destruction by rats and mice if the so-called sportsman or hunter comes along and shoots his cats, even in his very dooryard? How do you suppose Mr. L. Legge would like to have a hunter walk in his yard and shoot his cat at his very door? Well, I think he would soon make a holler, but the farmer has to put up with it and call it good.

If he says anything to the hunter about it, he will just ask you if you have your farm fenced in with signs, "No Hunting." He will display his hunting license and say he has a right to hunt there, because the state has issued him a license. They drive right in your field or orchard with their cars and before leaving load in a few bags of apples or a bag of potatoes or cabbage and possibly shoot your cat, dog or chickens besides. Why, the farmer under the present law does not even own his own private place or farm.

I have had several cats shot in my own barnyard. One year I had over two chickens shot which were out on free range, by the hunters who come out from the city.

If the state wishes to issue hunting licenses, it should be to hunt on state reserve and not on private land or farms. Then the hunters could not make a nuisance of themselves.

Sincerely yours,
A reader of the Kingston Semi-Weekly Freeman.

Last Chance for Voting Machines

The last demonstration of the voting machines to be used at the fall elections will be held in the supervisors' rooms in the court house this evening at 8 o'clock. These meetings were held under the auspices of the board of elections and at both meetings a representative of the voting machine company was present to demonstrate and answer questions.

Wednesday evening there were a large number of people present to receive instructions and have the operation of the machine explained by Mr. Gustavson.

Those who have not familiarized themselves with the machine will have an opportunity again this evening. In order to prevent delay on election day every voter should familiarize himself or herself with the operation of the machine now and prevent delays and confusion on election day.

Neuritis Gone; Credits Golden Herb Remedy

Sheriff Says Never Felt Better In His Life.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y.—Deputy County Sheriff Charles Baker makes the following statement regarding the remarkable results from the use of Golden Herb treatment:

"I have been suffering for the past ten years from neuritis and other ailments and a short time ago heard for the first time of your remedy, Golden Herb. I immediately commenced taking the remedy and now after only six weeks can honestly state that I never felt better in my life. I give all credit for my good condition to your very wonderful medicine."

Golden Herb Remedy has been remarkably successful, according to many who testify to their personal experience in the treatment of rheumatism, neuritis, diabetes, stomach, kidney and bladder trouble, and ailments resulting from faulty elimination and weakening of the systems and vital organs.

This remarkable remedy is compounded of pure roots and herbs. It contains no alcohol or drugs of any kind, and is guaranteed, the makers standing absolutely behind the stores you deal with. One dose a day is enough; a bottle costs $1 for a full month's treatment. Golden Herb remedy is on sale in Kingston at Maben & Walker's, E. W. Johnston's, and Charles Van Buskirk, Saugerties.

Life Insurance Origin Explained

Rotarians Learn It Has Been Traced Back to Egyptian Kings Who Promised to Care for Families of Emissaries Sent on Dangerous Missions.

At any [illegible] at the [illegible] this week speaker from Sumpter, N. J. Tarrytown, Poughkeepsie and New York city, Orson Van Sicklen of Poughkeepsie spoke briefly of the Salvation Army drive and there was no singing, because the song leader was too busy taking in money from those who had sold Marine Band concert tickets.

The vocational talk was by Harry M. Doran, who traced the history of industrial life insurance from its origin in the days when some ancient Egyptian king sending an emissary to "remove" an undesirable person probably added to his instructions "and if anything happens to you I'll see that your family is taken care of." There were burial societies in the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries and the various guilds had forms of life insurance, but the first real life insurance was started in 1706 in England. The process was to collect uniform dues and then at the end of the year divide the fund among the families of those who had died.

This did not work well, as the young found they would probably pay for many years while the old had only a few years in which to pay. In 1762 life insurance as we have it today was started and the annual premium was five per cent, that being about the annual death rate. One of the companies organized in London at about that time still exists, doing business without soliciting or advertising, but doing about as much business in a year as one of our companies does in a day.

The first life insurance in the United States was the Presbyterian Ministers' Fund, in Philadelphia, which is still in existence. In 1837 companies began to organize and in 1870 there was a flood of assessment companies, most of which failed and life insurance was left to those companies working under sound business principles. Yet to this day the biggest obstacle the insurance salesman has to overcome is the recollection of the workings of these long dead unsound concerns.

STONE RIDGE.

Stone Ridge, Oct. 20.—Sunday school at the Methodist Church meets at 9:45 a. m. with Oscar Wood as superintendent. In the church service beginning at 11 o'clock the pastor will bring an object lesson sermonette to the children entitled "What the Autumn Leaves Tell Us." The subject of the sermon especially for adults will be announced later. The choir will sing.

Mr. and Mrs. John Palen and family spent Sunday in Middletown.

David Woolsey, who underwent an operation in the Kingston City Hospital a few weeks ago, is recovering nicely.

Percy Clark of Scarsdale, N. Y., spent a few days with his mother, Mrs. Clark.

The Parent-Teacher meeting will be held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the school. The newly elected officers will have charge.

The Sewing Circle of the C. E. of the Reformed Church will meet at the home of Mrs. Fred Davis on Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The members are preparing for the Christmas fair to be held in the early part of December.

Mr. and Mrs. Luther Garrison and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Green motored to Saratoga Springs and Bennington, Vermont, over the week end.

All members of the Sunday schools are asked to remember the Sunday school convention which is to be held in the Fair Street Reformed Church Saturday and are urged to attend. Sessions will be held in the afternoon at 2:30 and at 7:30 in the evening.

The Stone Ridge Men's Community Club will meet in regular session in the basement of the Reformed Church. An interesting program is assured. Every member is urged to attend.

The choir of the Reformed Church will meet for weekly practice at 7:30 on Friday night. At 8 o'clock there will be joint practice of the two choirs for union services and also to prepare for a Thanksgiving musical to be held in the Reformed Church sponsored by both choirs.

Mr. and Mrs. John Van Tol, Alberta and John, Jr., of Paterson, N. J., were week end guests of the Rv. and Mrs. Van Tol at the Reformed parsonage.

Mrs. Jesse Hornbeck and children, who are staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hornbeck, have returned to their home at Lakewood, N. J.

The Men's Bible class of the Reformed Church met at the parsonage on Tuesday night to complete plans for their annual chicken supper which is to be held in the church basement on November 2. The menu will be chicken, mashed potatoes, sweet potatoes, hot biscuit and gravy, celery, cabbage salad, cranberry sauce, peas, pickles, coffee, apple and pumpkin pie.

Union community services will be held in the M. E. Church Sunday night at 8 o'clock. The Rev. Jay Holmes Smith will have charge. The subject of the discourse to be delivered by the Rev. C. Van Tol is "Christ our Leader." Both pastors are well satisfied with the number who are attending these services. The choirs of both churches will sing special numbers.

"The Supreme Test" is the topic for the message at the Reformed Church on Sunday morning at 10:20 o'clock. The service will be in charge of the pastor, the Rev. C. Van Tol. At 11:45 the Sunday school will convene with L. D. Sahler, superintendent. "The Call of the Prophet" is the lesson topic. Christian Endeavor will meet at 7 o'clock to discuss the topic, "Christian Endeavor in All Lands." The meeting is in charge of Mrs. C. Van Tol. The society is increasing in interest and the attendance is becoming larger.

MODENA.

Modena, Oct. 20.—A food sale will be held at Hasbrouck's Memorial Hall Saturday afternoon, October 22, commencing at 2 o'clock. This sale will be conducted by members of the Modena Ladies' Aid Society.

The next meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society will be a business meeting at the Methodist Church parsonage, November 5, when the annual election of officers will take place.

Saturday evening, October 22, members of Plattekill Grange will hold a meeting at the hall at Plattekill when the first and second degrees will be conferred on candidates chosen for membership in Grange.

Mr. and Mrs. Asa Wynkoop and son, Kenneth, attended the movies at Ellenville Friday evening and saw the picture "What Price Glory". They enjoyed it.

All extend sympathy to Elmer Barrenger and family in the loss of wife and mother.

Disease Germs Never Sleep

YOU CAN DEFEAT THEM WITH

Father John's Medicine

IF enemies come to attack your home, you would not open your door and invite them in. Day and night armies of disease germs lie in wait to attack your body. Do you fight against them or do you invite them in?

The weak body is an easy prey to disease, especially after the wasting effects of coughs and colds.

Father John's Medicine fights disease germs by aiding the system to throw off impurities and building up strength, vigor and physical fitness. It is a food medicine perfectly blended, pleasant to take, easy to digest. Has had seventy years of success and contains no alcohol or harmful drugs.

Court Decision for Arch Preserver Shoe

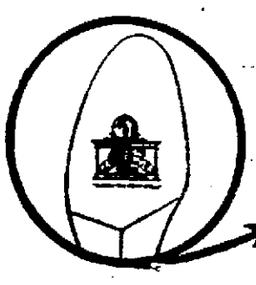
Second Recent Decree Upholding Design of This Shoe Handed Down by Federal District Court—Upholds Validity of Arch Bridge

Another Sweeping Victory for the Arch Preserver Shoe

In the United States District Court of Southern New York

The patented concealed Built-in Arch Bridge of the Arch Preserver Shoe is declared exclusive and beyond duplication

There is only one Arch Preserver Shoe made. Its principles of construction are fully protected by patents. No shoe is an Arch Preserver Shoe unless stamped with the trade-mark.



The Arch Preserver Shoe is made for women and growing girls by only The Selby Shoe Co. For men and boys by only E. T. Wright & Co., Rockland, Mass.

New York.—Following closely upon the decision handed down by the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia, recently, sustaining the validity of the metatarsal support of the Arch Preserver Shoe, comes another decision by the United States District Court of the Southern District of New York State—the judgment of the court in this instance establishing definitely that the shank, or built-in arch bridge, of the Arch Preserver Shoe is not an infringement.

This second suit was brought by William Lane, Inc., which firm owned the Delbon patents covering what is known as Hygienic "shank construction." The judge in his written decision stated that metal shanks are old in shoemaking.

It has long been the contention of the makers of the Arch Preserver Shoe that other shoes with merely a steel reinforcement in the shank do not necessarily have the same purpose nor give the same result as the Arch Preserver Shoe. They claim that the construction of the Arch Preserver Shoe embodied a "built-in arch bridge," which is wide and strong and so shaped that it holds the foot erect as well as providing a non-yielding walking base. The principle of construction was recognized by Judge Hand in his decision when he said "Defendant's structure is curved only on the inside portion of the shoe and the curve on that side is used to support the foot where support is needed."

GRAND GORGE.

Grand Gorge, Oct. 20.—The young folks gave Mr. and Mrs. Forest Richtmyer of Conesville a surprise party on Wednesday evening. All report a fine time.

Quite a number from this place attended the Epworth League convention held at Saugerties on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Morris spent the past two weeks in New York city.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ennist, also Mrs. Dewitt Ennist and daughter, Martha, were Kingston visitors on Sunday.

Mrs. George Tate spent Friday in Roxbury as a guest of Mrs. Raymond Cronk.

Mr. and Mrs. Eben F. Busnell spent the week end in New York city on business.

Lillian and Donald Busnell were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Coons of Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Robinson were Oneonta guests on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones expect to move in their new home on Station street next week.

The Rebecca Lodge initiated five new members on Monday night and Roxbury Lodge installed the new officers for the coming year. Delicious refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Forest Dix were week-end guests of relatives in Pennsylvania.

Vinegar Without Alcohol

The bureau of chemistry says that, while there may be a very little alcohol left in vinegar, it is almost always entirely used up by the acetic fermentation which takes place.

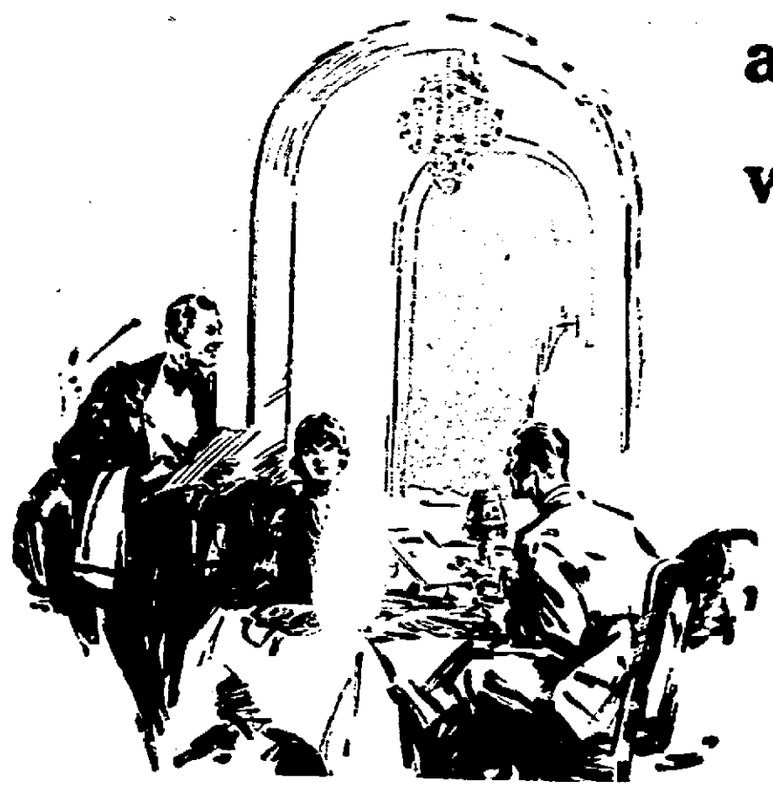
Popularity for hotel, restaurant and cafeteria with Frigidaire equipment



Always able to serve its patrons with foods of the most appetizing freshness, with drinking water from the Frigidaire water cooler, and cooling drinks iced with clear cubes from the ice-maker—the hotel, restaurant, or cafeteria is wise in using Frigidaire equipment. For folks will "call again."

The constant low temperature automatically preserved in the Frigidaire electric refrigerator eliminates food spoilage and odors. It keeps celery and lettuce fresh and crisp—meats flavorsome.

The Frigidaire ice cream cabinet—easy to serve from and attractive in appearance—keeps the ice cream always firm and tasty.

Frigidaire is dependable in giving service automatically, every day of the year.

The following are Frigidaire users:

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT, BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

There's no "time out" for Buick

The referee's whistle shrills . . . "time out!" . . . The game halts pending a player's return to the line-up.

"Time out" is never called for Buick—Buick is always "in the game"—never "on the side lines". If there is a "long run" to be made, you can depend on Buick to reach the "goal".

When you attend the big football games this year, notice the predominance of Buicks—for men and women who like action, like Buick.

Janet Gaynor

Beautiful Janet Gaynor, the featured motion picture player, has added to her laurels in "Sunshine," in which she has the feminine lead. Miss Gaynor was born in Philadelphia, but her childhood was spent in Chicago and San Francisco. Attracted by the films, she moved to Hollywood in 1924, where she made a hard fight for recognition—and won out.

THE WHY of SUPERSTITIONS

By H. IRVING KING

SNAKES AS RAINMAKERS

IN MRS. FANNY BERGEN'S "Animal and Plant Lore" a superstition, common in some sections, is said to be that to kill a snake and hang it on a fence, or a tree, is a sure way of producing rain. In some sections, according to Mrs. Bergen, hanging the snake with its back up will prevent rain; with its back down bring on rain. This, however, may be considered a local frill—though possibly it may have some mythological basis now undiscoverable and eliminated by time from the general form of the superstition, which is a very old German one. The old Germans were accustomed to kill a snake and hang him up in a tree when they wished rain, with the serpent's head pointed in the direction from which they expected the wind to come which would bring with it the desired showers. The use of serpents as rain charms prevails today among various peoples living in a primitive state and is evidently a conception of primitive man and a relic of serpent-worship.

It is a curious fact that primitive man frequently performed his devotions by killing the thing he worshiped. A good example is afforded by the customs of the primitive Ainus of Japan with regard to the bear today. This curious "twist" of the primitive mind has never been quite satisfactorily explained, though Sir James Frazer, who has delved deeper into primitive psychology than any other man, has gone far toward solving it. Just how widespread in this country the snake rainmaking superstition is, it is impossible to say; but its habitat extends over a very considerable area.

DAILY RADIO PROGRAM

Friday, October 21.

Thomas A. Edison invented the incandescent lamp 49 years ago on Friday, October 21. As a commemorative celebration WEAF and the Red network will present a National Electric Night, which will go on the air at 10:00 o'clock. The entertainment will consist of music by the famous Goldman's Band and talks by prominent men. At the same time WJZ will stage their favorite with a variegated quartet, supported by a piano and a trumpet, who will render old songs and duets as well as popular selections. Other programs for this same time are concerts by the Municipal Band of Baltimore tuned in on WBAL and The Enterprise, a musical quiet through WOO. Earlier in the evening the dot twister will be seen transferred to tune to WNYC, WEVA, WJZ and KOA. Football games to be broadcast tomorrow afternoon will be Harvard vs. Dartmouth through WEAF, WEEI, WTIC, WJZ, WGY, WGR, WSAI and WFI; Yale vs. Army through WJZ both at 1:45, and Lehigh University vs. Villanova College through WIP, and the University of Pennsylvania vs. Chicago through WRAO, both at 2:00 o'clock.

Life actually prolonged!

By keeping the system cleansed of poisons

MEN of science are constantly working on a problem vital to the human race—longevity! They find that one of the surest ways to increase your span of life is to keep the intestines cleansed of poisons due to wrong habits of living and eating and to delayed elimination. They find everybody in danger of this condition—everybody suffering from it at times.

Many of our foremost scientists recommend the use of Nujol as a harmless corrective and preventive. For Nujol does both things for you because it has the peculiar quality of not being absorbed by the system at all. But Nujol does absorb body poisons. Carries them away right out of the system. Corrects internal difficulties. If taken faithfully Nujol makes impossible delayed elimination and the absorption of poisons into the blood. Thus it acts as a preventive. Your whole system will benefit if you learn to use Nujol whenever you feel the need of it. Nujol is so safe that babies, old people, and sick people can take it too. Ask your doctor about it. He'll tell you it can't hurt you. It's not habit-forming, contains no drugs or medicine. Perfected by the Chemical Products Division of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

Nujol contains no drugs or medicine. It is different from anything else. Absolutely pure and safe to take under any conditions.

You can get Nujol at any druggist. The genuine product comes in the famous Nujol bottle with the label on the back that you can read right through the bottle. Don't delay—get a bottle at once.

Roosevelt "Gag" Bunk, Says Greene

An Albany despatch to the New York Herald Tribune says:

Reports sent out of Albany that Colonel Theodore Roosevelt will not be allowed to speak in Albany unless his talk is censored by local Republicans were characterized tonight as "a lot of bunk" by George W. Greene, Republican county chairman. According to these stories, the censorship was to be placed on Colonel Roosevelt because of his speech at the recent Republican State Convention, attacking vice conditions under the Democratic city rule in Albany.

"If Colonel Roosevelt comes to Albany," said Mr. Greene, "he can talk as long as he likes and say anything he likes, as far as I am concerned or the Republican organization of Albany county.

"As a matter of fact, workers in the hill wards of Albany have reported to me a very good reaction there to the colonel's speech at the Rochester convention and all he said there. What he said has, as a matter of fact, gained votes for the Republicans here."

Colonel Roosevelt is expected to speak at Altamont, in Albany county, during the latter part of the campaign.

"If he speaks at Altamont," said Mr. Greene, "he will also speak in Albany at night. The only question is one of getting a suitable hall. And I guess there would be no question of filling any hall in Albany to hear Colonel Roosevelt."

Here's Speedy Relief for Tender, Aching, Swollen Feet

Moone's Emerald Oil Must Give Complete Satisfaction
Or Money Cheerfully Refunded.

Your feet may be so swollen and inflamed that you think you can't go another step. Your shoes may feel as if they are cutting right into the flesh. You feel sick all over with the pain and torture and pray for quick relief. What's to be done?

Two or three applications of Moone's Emerald Oil and in fifteen minutes the pain and soreness disappears. A few more applications at regular intervals and the swelling reduces.

And as for Soft Corns and Calouses a few applications each night at bed time and they just seem to shrivel right up and scale off.

No matter how discouraged you have been with powders, footbaths or other applications, if you have not tried Emerald Oil then you have something to learn.

It's a wonderful formula—this combination of essential oils with camphor and other antiseptics so marvelous that thousands of bottles are sold annually for reducing varicose or swollen veins.

Wm. F. Dedrick's and every good druggist guarantees the very first bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil to end your foot troubles or money back.

Madame Marcelle Lord Murdered

Police Seek Former Captain in Russian Imperial Guard—Lived For Several Months at Fall River, Mass.

Nice, France, Oct. 20 (AP).—Stabbed through the heart, the body of Madame Marcelle Lord, said by her friends to have been divorced from Horace Wilfred Lord, of Fall River, Mass., was found in a villa here yesterday.

A former captain in the Russian imperial guard, who is believed by the police to have stabbed her when she refused to marry him, is being sought.

Lived at Fall River.

Fall River, Mass., Oct. 20 (AP).—Madame Marcelle Lord, murdered in Nice, France, lived in this city for several months about five years ago with her husband, Horace W. Lord, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah Lord. The latter said today that his wife returned to France because of the illness of her mother. Lord went with her but because the climate did not agree with him and he was unable to obtain a steady position he decided to return to this country.

Their relations had continued cordial, his parents said, and he had frequently expressed the hope that she would come back to America. The parents had received letters from Madame Lord occasionally.

ALLERTON TO GIVE LECTURE ON ASIA

Walter Wentworth Allerton will give an illustrated lecture at the Y. W. C. A. Hall on Tuesday evening, October 25, under the auspices of the Federation of Women's Clubs. A silver offering will be taken to defray incidental expenses. The title of the lecture is "Today in the Lands of Yesterday," covering conditions in China, India and Japan particularly. Mr. Allerton has made an exhaustive study of his subject. The lecturer will bring with him over a hundred slides, the pictures having been taken either by himself or his sister on their last trip around the world, and the pictures are of exceptional interest and beauty. Mr. Allerton will also use his own electric lantern. The Federation of Women's Clubs and the Y. W. C. A., which is cooperating with the Federation, extend a cordial invitation to the public to attend the lecture.

Masonic Card Party.

Landslides Block Many Highways

Binghamton, N. Y., Oct. 20 (AP).—With rivers in this section above the flood stage and further rains predicted by the weather bureau, landslides along state highways entering this city have added to the difficulties of transportation. On the Whitney Point-Chenango Forks highway, a portion of the Syracuse to Binghamton route, landslides have blocked the road and it will require many days' work with steam shovels to clear it. A landslide occurred along the liberty train route as it enters this city.

MISS WARDLE TO SING AT TOWN HALL CONCERT

Miss Constance Wardle, once soprano soloist of the First Presbyterian Church, this city, under the direction of Ford Hummel and who pleased greatly on several occasions here when she first entered the rank of professional singers, will sing at the Town Hall, 113 West 43rd street, New York city, Monday, November 7, at 8:30 p. m. Miss Wardle will be accompanied on the piano by Walter Golde. She was born in Catskill and although yet in her twenties has accomplished much as a dramatic soprano. Miss Wardle studied in Italy under Vittorio Verse, now assistant conductor of the Metropolitan Opera Company for three years.

Let Them Tell It!

We are not going to say a word about "7th Heaven." The hard boiled critics of New York and the trade press have said all that can be said about it. The only trouble is we can give you only a line or two from each review. It would take this page to print half the glowing tributes paid this production by reviewers.

"Peaches in the dumpling, peaches in the pie,
Peaches in the market, who can pass them by?
Peaches served for breakfast, sliced in yellow cream,
Peach frappe at dinner, pleasant as a dream."

PEACH DISHES

No fruit cellar is well stocked which has not plenty of canned peaches for use as fruit or in salads during the winter. All sorts of desserts steamed, baked or frozen may be made from this delightful fruit.

Peach Conserve.—Take five and one-half pounds of peaches and five pounds of sugar, two oranges and one pound each of walnuts and seeded raisins. Peel the peaches, remove the stones and cut into small pieces. Put the raisins and oranges (discarding the orange seeds) through a meat grinder. Cut the nut meats into coarse pieces. Stir all together and cook very slowly until of the consistency of jam, stirring often to keep from scorching. This makes about eighteen glasses. Cover with paraffin.

Peach Canapes.—Saute circular pieces of sponge cake in butter until delicately browned. Drain canned peaches, sprinkle with powdered sugar, a few drops of lemon juice and a slight grating of nutmeg. Melt one tablespoonful of butter, add the peaches and when well beaten serve on the cake.

Peach Crusts.—Roll puff or plain paste one-eighth of an inch in thickness, cut into two-inch squares and bake in a hot oven. Cool, press down the centers and arrange on each one-half of a canned peach, drained and heated in the oven. Sprinkle with powdered sugar and put orange juice, grape juice or jelly into each cavity.

Peach Tapioca.—Drain a can of peaches and sprinkle with sugar, let stand an hour; soak one cupful of tapioca one hour in cold water to cover; to the peach sirup add enough boiling water to make three cupfuls, heat to the boiling point, add the drained tapioca, a half teaspoonful of salt and one-half cupful of sugar. Cook until the tapioca is transparent. Line a mold with peaches and pour in the tapioca and bake thirty minutes. Cool slightly, turn out on a dish and serve with a custard sauce.

A Few Dos and Don'ts for the Stout Woman and a Word in Favor of Considering Proportions When Purchasing a Hat.

New York—Convertible collars and coats with a tendency to deceive one into mistaking them for a dress, or the other way about, are nearly always interesting, but rarely practical and only in a measure successful. We are all familiar with the type of dress that pretends to be in two pieces, but in reality is in one piece. This is the type to which the too-generously-proportioned woman is immediately drawn, believing, of course, that the jumper dress is an unwise choice for her.

It often is, yet a jumper and skirt costume, well proportioned and fitted, has frequently a slenderizing effect. A great deal depends upon the way the jumper is fitted across the shoulder and about the armhole. The line should be very smooth, yokes often being added to emphasize this feature.

THREE FABRICS COMBINE IN A SIMULATED ENSEMBLE.

A Coat of Navy Blue Reps That May Be Worn Closed or Opened in Tuxedo Effect to Reveal a Section That Simulates a Blouse and Skirt. Navy Blue Crepe Satin Fashions the Box Pleated Skirt, and the Blouse Is Pleated Beige Georgette.

The new-type elongated collars are a flattering touch, especially when of fur. Flat furs are the part of judgment for the heavily-set woman.

One now has one's hats carefully fitted to one's head, and by so doing it is surprising how many varieties of hat one may really wear. Large hats have vanished with the rose, but the smartly-fitted skull cap or toque may be as kindly, if one considers proportion and the close kinship between hat and coat collar.

Beware of getting a top-heavy effect. Many women are improved by severely plain neck-lines, even omitting the pearl strand to which the majority subscribe.

ALLABEN.

Allaben, Oct. 20.—Invitations are being issued for a big Hallowe'en party to be held at Mrs. Gilbert Redmond's, Saturday, October 29. A good time is being planned for all who attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Swarthout and daughter, Ruth; Mr. and Mrs. Ben Short, Mr. and Mrs. William Blar and mother and daughter, Minnie, and two children of Kingston and Mr. and Mrs. Grove Hahn and daughter, Eloise, and son, Walter, of Worcester, Mass., were week-end visitors at Mrs. Hahn's sister's, Mrs. Gilbert E. Redmond's at Allaben.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Hahn and family, Worcester, Mass., residents for the past twenty-five years, have moved to Kingston where they occupy rooms at 62 Cedar street. Mrs. Hahn was Miss Etta Short, daughter of William H. Short, veteran candy maker who has a store at 10 Hoffman street, Kingston.

Eleanor Gunn Says

New York—Rayon velvets are being accepted for evening gowns, silvery gray being the favorite shade.

Corduroys are revived for sports wear and rival velveteen, but tweeds remain second to none for the moment.

Although blue was the most important sports color of the season, yellow registered at smart European resorts and bears watching for the southern season.

Honey beige and natural are colors one must learn to identify on sight.

A revolt against uniformity is the undercurrent that has resulted in the contradictions of today's mode. This is true of hats more than anything else. The new note is the entirely brimless hat.

Broadtail is the aristocrat of flat furs, but one may feel smartly dressed in shaved lamb or goat.

To be really chic, a woman must complete her tailleur with a jersey, or a woolen or velvet blouse, silk for the moment being unimportant. The sweater continues to be regarded as a fitting accompaniment to the tailored suit.

I get clothes whiter this easy way

Rinso is all you need—no bar soaps, chips or powders.

WHY should I scrub my strength away when I can now soak clothes whiter and brighter!

Rinso makes washday so easy. I just soak the whole wash in its safe, creamy, sterilizing suds—and I haven't a bit of hard rubbing to do!

Dirt and stains float off in the rinsing. Even the most soiled parts need only a gentle rub between the fingers.

Of course this gentle way saves the clothes. Saves me fuel and fuss, too; for Rinso sterilizes without boiling.

Why don't you try Rinso next washday? See for yourself how soft and sudsy it makes the water.

DEATH BY TORTURE FATE OF TWO MEN IN BOOTLEG FEUD

Beaten Into Insensibility and Left to Die in Burning House.

Baltimore.—Torture similar to that committed by the savage Indian was employed in a supposedly bootleg feud.

Knocked unconscious and dragged to a deserted country cottage, where their clothing was saturated with kerosene and the house set afire, two pitilessly beaten men squirmed their scorched bodies to the outside.

Though not burned to death, they died from their burns and wounds a few hours later at a hospital. Death came before they could give a coherent story of their attack.

Attacked and Beaten.

John C. Harrahy, thirty-six, and Chester Pugh, thirty-three, each the father of several children, were the victims of the atrocious crime. They were motoring to a shore resort outside of the city, they were able to tell the police, when another machine blocked their path on a lonely road.

Three men, each holding a pistol, commanded them to "get out," and when they did they were struck on the head and body with butts of pistols.

Harrahy said he remembered no more until he felt intense pain. He found his clothing afire and the room ablaze. Pugh lay beside him. He shook him, and, in their misery, they tore off their clothing.

The flames leaped about them, they said, and they managed to crawl to a window and fall several feet to the lawn. Still suffering, they reached the road and called to men to extinguish the fire, and collapsed. A policeman found them.

They Managed to Crawl to a Window.

Seek Suspected Men.

"The Kid! The Kid!" whispered by Harrahy in his agony before he died, caused a man known as "The Kid" to be questioned, but he was released.

Edward "Spike" Kenny, an associate of Richard Reese Whittemore, hanged robber and slayer, who was reported to have been shot by the chief while the latter was a fugitive from the Maryland penitentiary two years ago, was being sought.

The police want to question him about the murders.

Missing Man Found Beheaded in Woods

New York.—The nude and headless body of a man found in a lonely thicket in Flushing was identified as that of James Marmaro of Ozonee Park, Queens, by his widow, Mrs. Helen Marmaro. Marmaro had been missing from his home three days.

Motive for the killing appeared obscure. The imprint of a trim pair of woman's high-heeled shoes in the soft mud near the place led police to form the tentative theory that a love triangle, to which the slain man was a party and concerning which he had injudiciously talked, might be the key to the crime.

An abandoned stolen automobile found nearby and a tree stump which police mysteriously sawed close to the ground and took away for examination, are believed to be material for clues.

Demented Man Ends Life With Dynamite

Menahga, Minn.—John Kinnunen, a farmer, blew himself to pieces by lying down on several sticks of dynamite and then setting them off. Before setting off the dynamite Kinnunen fired his farm buildings. The buildings were destroyed and several horses and cows burned to death. Relatives say Kinnunen became demented recently.

Sequel to Kiss

Camden, N. J.—A kiss he stole 52 years ago had its sequel when James C. Angus, eighty-six, obtained a license to marry Mrs. Elizabeth Taylor, seventy-two.

Hitting the Expert

New York.—Archibald C. Weeks, a sanitation expert, was cut off in the will of his wife because he failed to keep his promise to remove a pile of rubbish from their back yard.

A Wadded Coat

Seen recently, worn with white clothes, was a very short coat of cherry colored silk that was quilted at regular intervals. It had a small stand-up collar that was immensely chic.

Chiffon Ensembles

Chiffon ensembles are especially smart if the frock is of the printed fabric while the coat is of a plain color.

Yellow Jackets Must Work Hard To Repeat Feat

Beacon Has Unable to Score Against Local Gridders Last Year —Competent Officials in Charge of Games.

The Yellow Jackets are preparing for their tilt with the Beacon representatives Sunday at the Fair Grounds. They will be in prime form to meet the downriver team over whom they scored two wins last season. From statistics the locals will have to play much harder this year to score over the Beacon eleven for the aggregation has been strengthened considerably, it is said, and has a number of dependable plays upon which to bank their touchdowns.

The Yellow Jackets are prepared for a hard attack but are as usual not the least bit worried. The local boys are not overconfident in any sense but feel certain that their plays will be as effective in rolling out scoring points as the Beacon team's. Persistent practice of the right kind is doing much to stay defeat and hold the Yellow Jackets as an undefeated eleven. Every Kingston gridder is working in harmony with Coach Preston and Captain Earl McLane for the success of the Yellow Jackets. It is forecast by fans who are considerably wise concerning the game that the Yellow Jackets will end the present season as triumphantly as they closed the '26 period—without losing a game.

Blanked Twice Last Year.

The Beacon team met the Yellow Jackets in the opening game last season and were unable to score. The locals managed to round out twenty points. Colvin and Vogt, the latter now absent from the local lineup owing to his change of residence, featured in the scoring. Colvin registered three touchdowns. Vogt scored two points by putting the pigskin between the goal posts. The Yellow Jackets' line was in A-1 form and by means of scrimmages the ball was advanced an aggregate of 162 yards.

The fourth tilt of the 1926 season was staged against the Beaconites and they went down to defeat without scoring a point in their second meeting with the locals. Kingston on this occasion registered 26 points. Colvin and Vogt repeated their success of the first game and shared equally in the four touchdowns made. Vogt missed one chance out of three in placement kicking. The Yellow Jacket line proved much stronger against the Beacon representatives in the game and made it possible to advance the pigskin 167 yards in scrimmage.

Competent Officials.

Manager Dwyer has secured officials to rule the contests, that make the game faster and more interesting. Captain Olson is a square referee and knows the game thoroughly. In handling the contests the captain has become quite a favorite among local football enthusiasts.

Watts Wheeler as umpire in last Sunday's game also made a decided hit by his alertness. John Palisi, another football star from the "old school", as head linesman needed no help in keeping count of the downs or in seeing the off sides. It is expected that these officials will be at the game here Sunday.

Besides the officials the local manager has an able assistant in "Dub" Raichle, although when the game is on he never can be found. It is believed some "fair" attraction keeps "Dubby" busy answering questions.

Record Crowd Expected.

A large number of new faces were seen at the game last Sunday and it is expected that a record crowd will be in attendance at the Beacon game. The game is scheduled to start at 3 o'clock. The Beacon team has wired that it will be in Kingston Sunday afternoon at 1 o'clock. If such is the case the game will start at 3 promptly.

The local manager requests that fans keep back of the ropes if they expect to see the best game possible. Kingston will be penalized if fans move out onto the playing field.

SAMSONVILLE.

Samsonville, Oct. 20.—Mrs. James McCullough of Hoboken, N. J., is spending some time at her summer home in this place.

A. R. Palen has closed his bungalow and gone to Lakeland, Fla., where he has a position as general yard master on a railroad.

The Samsonville M. E. Church has been newly painted. Raymond Davis did the work.

F. N. Davis is spending some time at his home. All are glad to have Mr. Davis back once more.

Fourteen from this place attended the service at The Vly Sunday evening.

E. Van Etten of Detroit is spending some time with his grandparents and other relatives.

A. A. Terwilliger of Hempstead, L. I., is visiting his cousin, V. Beesmer.

G. Christiana, the Democratic candidate for supervisor, was in this place Tuesday calling on his friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Beesmer have returned to their home from Walden.

A. Haver called on Mr. and Mrs. A. Palen Saturday evening.

Poughkeepsie Bouts.

According to ticket sales there will be a large assemblage of fans, including Kingstonians, at the Industrial League bouts tonight in Woodcliff Park, Poughkeepsie. Three local boys are on the card.

Trying Week for Eastern Elevens

New York, Oct. 20 (AP).—The most trying week of practice for eastern teams to date sees the end of scrimmage today, with only dummy practice and signal drill in prospect for the eve of several important battles. Some teams which have reached a satisfactory stage of progress did not have to battle rain and stiff winds during the last three days, but others were sent wallowing through the mud because coaches felt that there were many rough spots to be smoothed off before Saturday.

Gloomy Gil Dobie at Cornell has had his big Red eleven working overtime in preparation for the Princeton fuss. Cornell was not engaged last Saturday, whereas Princeton had a strenuous workout against Washington and Lee. Dobie has exhibited no inclination to guard against possible injuries, feeling that his men have much to accomplish if they are to be fit and ready for the Tiger invasion of Ithaca. A let down was promised in the Cornell camp today, however.

Bill Roper crossed the second guessers in the Princeton camp by driving his men through a half hour scrimmage, during which time not a single forward pass was wrought into play. As the Tigers have been expected to take to the air to counteract the effect of the Cornell line-smashing game, there was some speculation about a possible change in tactics.

Harvard and Dartmouth, with plans for their contest just about complete, worked out defensive maneuvers.

Newburgh Plays Here Saturday

Saturday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock at the Kingston Fair Grounds, the Kingston High School Varsity eleven will play its first DUSO League game. Their opponents will be the Newburgh Academy team.

Newburgh is said to have a very strong eleven this season and hopes to capture the league flag.

Coach Kias will put the local high gridders through stiff practice today and Friday.

Tickets are being sold through Mr. Woodard and John Watts.

YOUNG JUDAEANS WILL START PRACTICE

The Young Judaeans will start practice for the coming basketball season Monday night under the supervision of Dan Joyce. Joyce has a good reputation as a court performer here and is expected to continue the good work started last season by Irving Reuben.

The Young Judaeans won sixteen out of twenty contests last year and among their list of worthy opponents include the Junior Champs of Amsterdam and the Layman-Berkowitz quintet, runners-up in the Industrial Basketball League of Newburgh. The same lineup will be in the Judaeans uniforms this season: "Vic" Alcon, captain, and Perlman, ex-captain, will hold down the forward positions; "Sig" Balinky and "Chubby" Bahl will do the guarding while "Syd" Frier will perform in the pivot position. Sussin and Basch will be in reserve.

It is expected that the team will open the season in a short time. Manager Bahl is negotiating with the Champion Young Judaean team of New York city to play against the locals.

Recognition of Champs Disputed

Championships Are Being Shifted More by Legislature Than by Punches—National Governing Authority Needed.

By Alan J. Gould
Associated Press Sports Editor.

New York, Oct. 20 (AP).—Seldom have boxing observers found more need of a national governing authority, exercising sweeping instead of limited powers, than they do at present with the various ruling bodies in sharper conflict than ever.

The conclusion of the National Boxing Association's convention in Toledo has emphasized this conflict, which principally is between the National Boxing Association and the New York State Athletic Commission. The N. B. A. with the boxing authorities of 24 states banded together, has the weight of numbers and widespread representation behind it but the New York solons have the advantage of controlling the situation in the country's biggest and richest boxing center.

The major points of controversy now rage about recognition of champions. It has always been a ring axiom that titles are won or lost in the ring but in these days of resignations or retirements, the championship list has been shifted more by legislation than by punches.

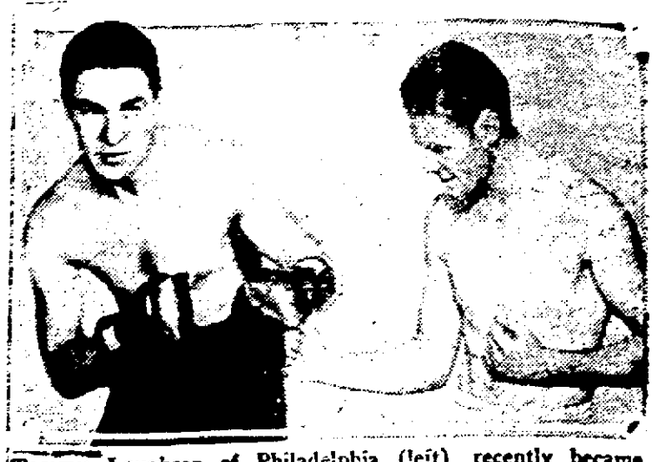
New divisions have been created, and championship recognition bestowed or withdrawn by proclamation to such an extent that the tracing of many title histories is now a job for genealogists instead of sports reviewers.

The current lightweight situation, or muddle, according to the point of view, emphasizes the necessity of some means of get-together. On the retirement of Jack Delaney, New York boxing authorities bestowed the crown on the veteran Mike McTigue, who lost it to Tommy Loughran. But the N. B. A. made different arrangements, proclaiming Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo the successor to Delaney after he whipped Maxey Rosenbloom in an "elimination tournament" to which others were invited but which actually involved only Rosenbloom and Slattery.

The incongruity of this is apparent to boxing writers but they see little prospect of remedy unless some competitive urge brings Slattery and Loughran, the rival "champions", into the same ring to settle the argument.

There seems small prospect at present of the New York Boxing Board joining official hands with the N. B. A. Strenuous efforts failed several years ago to bring this about. Since then the rival powers have drifted wider apart although the New York board has established working arrangements with several of the states that belong to the N. B. A., such as Connecticut and Pennsylvania.

BOTH CHAMPIONS—TAKE YOUR PICK



Tommy Loughran of Philadelphia (left) recently became world's light heavyweight champion by virtue of his victory over Mike McTigue. But the National Boxing Commission has just proclaimed Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo (right), light heavyweight titleist because of his win over Maxey Rosenbloom in Hartford, Conn. Muddle over boxing championships seems to get worse all the time.

Bull Fight at Spanish Ball

The final act of the entertainment before the Spanish Ball to be given at the armory on Wednesday night, October 26, by the Junior League, will be a real Spanish bull fight. The bull is expected to arrive in Kingston on Monday and will be in charge of Dr. Harold Clarke until the time of the performance. The local boys who will face this terrifying animal will be John D. Schoonmaker, Jr., Robert R. Rodie, Anderson Carl, Charles A. Warren and Henry Osterhoudt. They have been practicing the arts of the matador for weeks and hope to dazzle the spectators by their brilliant and daring performances. Each will vie with the other for the applause of the fairer sex and flowers and streamers will be obtainable with which these ladies may shower the objects of their approval. As this performance is an early one, expected to be over before 10:30, and many very young people are to be in the audience, the brave matador and the picadors and banderilleros will bait their bull as neatly as possible and it is hoped that little blood will be shed.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Oct. 20 (AP).—Reactionary price tendencies continued to predominate in today's stock market, despite repeated efforts of pools and others to rally the general list. Declines in many of the popular industrial and railroad shares ran from 1 to 3 points, with a few high priced specialities selling off as much as 4 to 9 points.

Bearish sentiment was attributed to a number of things including the disappointing character of many lines of fall business, the fear of Ford competition in the motor industry and the unfavorable nature of some of the September railroad earnings reports now being published. Reduction in the call money rate to 3½ per cent, with concessions below that figure reported in the "outside market" was disregarded, at least temporarily, as a market factor.

Persistent liquidation of many investment issues, such as United States Steel common, American Telephone, General Motors, General Electric, Woolworth, New York Central, Union Pacific and Canadian Pacific all of which touched new lows on the current down swing had a disturbing effect on sentiment. Commercial Solvents broke 9 points to a new low at 261, and Case Threshing fell nearly 5 points.

Publication of a favorable third quarter report by Hudson Motors early in the afternoon brought about a brisk recovery in that issue, and helped to check the tide of selling elsewhere.

WOMAN ELECTED LEGION DEPARTMENT COMMANDER

Rome, Oct. 20 (AP).—For the first time in the history of the American Legion a woman has been elected a department commander in the person of Mrs. Julia Wheelock, formerly of Miami, Fla., who has been chosen head of the department of Italy consisting of the Rome and Naples posts.

This department recently numbered 2,000 Legionnaires, a total enrollment that was reduced after the exodus of former service men to the United States under the repatriation act for foreign born veterans of the American expeditionary force.

Mrs. Wheelock has been active in Legion affairs in Italy ever since her residence in Rome. She served in the navy as a yeoman and later in the hospital corps.

Complete Repairs To Railroad Track

Workmen Repair Damage Caused by Derailment of West Shore Train Wednesday and Traffic Moves on Regular Schedule.

Repairs to the track on the Flatbush avenue crossing of the West Shore railroad which was torn up Wednesday when train No. 5 was derailed owing to the breaking of a rear axle on the tender, were completed at 12:30 o'clock this morning. Coaches with damaged trucks were shipped to West Albany for repairs.

It is estimated that over three hundred feet of track and signal apparatus with about eight hundred ties were displaced. Repairs were made as rapidly as possible with the army of men employed on the wrecking crew. The large crane was used to right the derailed passenger coaches which were leaning to either side of the track, along which deep furrows were dug as the cars left the rails.

It is thought that more serious results were prevented because the cars are of steel construction. This prevented the usual twisting which occurs when a train is derailed, and the passengers were safe from the collapsing of the coaches sometimes experienced when wooden cars leave the track.

Traffic is now moving on the regular schedule.

Local Death Record

Elizabeth A. Van Tassel died in this city Wednesday, October 19. Funeral Friday at 2:30 p. m., from the funeral chapel of A. Carr & Son, 1 Pearl street. Interment in Wiltwyck cemetery.

New Hurley, Oct. 20.—Mrs. Mary Traphagen died at the home of her sister, Mrs. Shay, Tuesday afternoon, October 11, after a week's illness, aged 79 years. She had lived with her sister here since the death of her husband six years ago. Funeral services were held in the New Hurley Church Friday afternoon, with interment in the Wallkill Valley cemetery at Walden.

The funeral of Carrie Lennon, wife of Elmer Barrenger, who died at her home in Palentown, Friday, October 7, was held from her late home Tuesday, October 11, at 2 p. m. The Rev. Mr. Rice officiated. Interment was in the family plot in the Palentown Cemetery. Besides her husband she is survived by one son, Burton, and one daughter, Symatha, and several brothers and sisters.

William Burke of Marlborough died in St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, on Tuesday. He was the son of the late Edward and Catherine Burke, and is survived by one brother, James Burke of Newark, N. J. Funeral services Friday morning from the home of his cousin, Mrs. James Downer, in Newburgh, with services in St. Mary's Church, Marlborough. Interment in St. Mary's cemetery, Lattington.

Alonzo Cole, a lifelong resident of Ulster Park, died at his home there early this morning. Funeral services from the late residence Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in Ulster Park. Mr. Cole was born in Ulster Park on October 29, 1839, and had resided there all his life. He was a successful farmer and a man who was widely and favorably known. He is survived by one son, Montague Cole, who resided with his father.

Amanda M., widow of the late William B. Scott, died Tuesday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Walter M. Baisden, Leonia, N. J. She came to Kingston in 1871 when she married Mr. Scott and lived here until his death in 1925 after which she made her home with her daughter in Leonia. Mrs. Scott was nearly 86 years of age and for the past few months had been in failing health. She is survived by one son, Irving W. Scott of 38 West Chester street, where the funeral service will be held Friday at 2:30 p. m.; one daughter, and four grandchildren. For many years she was a member of the Rondout Presbyterian Church and having lived at various times in the upper and lower parts of the city had a wide circle of friends.

Burt R. Whitaker died suddenly at his home on Main street, Saugerties, Wednesday. Death was due to heart trouble. He was in the sixty-fourth year of his age. Mr. Whitaker had served as constable, village officer and also as a deputy sheriff for a long period of years and was well known not only in Saugerties but throughout Ulster county. Recently he was renominated as constable of Saugerties on both party tickets. He had also served as sanitary inspector of Saugerties for a number of years. Mr. Whitaker was a lifelong Republican and a member of Saugerties Council, No. 104, J. O. U. A. M. Years ago he was affiliated with R. A. Snyder Hose Company of Saugerties. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Percy M. Abeel and Mrs. Norman Cole, and one sister, Mrs. William Rivenburgh. Funeral services from the late home Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment in Mountain View Cemetery, Saugerties.

Moses Testifies She Burned Papers

work done by the federal census bureau under contract.

Crosby L. Grant, editor of the Legislative Manual, which was issued through the department of state, testified as the first witness of the day, asserting that he had been paid $1,832 for his extra work in connection with the census. He was largely concerned with the publicity, he said. Miss Florence Ranny, an employe of his office, had worked on virtually the same schedule as himself, Grant said, but she got only $70.

Mr. Le Boeuf wanted to know the reason for the difference in compensation, and Grant replied:

"Mrs. Knapp kept saying she would take care of her".

The witness added that by the time "she got around to it" both Grant and Miss Ranny were cut from the overtime census payroll.

Testifying as to the publicity work, Grant said Gordon Gleason, son of LaFayette B. Gleason, secretary of the Republican state committee and chief supervisor of the census, was on the payroll as a publicity attache, but that he had done no work with the witness. Grant said he understood, however, that the younger Gleason had handled a census radio campaign during 1925.

Secretary Moses brought with him a portfolio containing the Cities Census Committee report alleging maladministration of the $1,200,000 fund by Mrs. Knapp. The document, which was the original of the report, was received by Mr. Moses this morning, he said. It was entered into evidence.

PORT EWEN

Port Ewen, Oct. 20.—All members of Hope Lodge, No. 65, K. of P., are urged to be present at the regular session Friday evening of this week as business of importance is to be transacted.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Niece and son, Roland, of Main street motored to Groton and spent the week end with Mrs. Mabel Van Keuren there. They returned to their home accompanied by Mr. Niece's mother, Mrs. Charles Niece.

Mrs. John Redican of Albany is spending the week with her mother, Mrs. Thomas Tucker, on Broadway.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Reformed Church will hold a fair in the Sunday school room November 2 and 3, Wednesday and Thursday evenings. Wednesday night a chicken supper will be served. The following is the menu: Fricassee chicken, biscuit, mashed potatoes, sweet potatoes, creamed onions, cabbage salad, cranberries, celery, raised biscuit, tea, coffee, pumpkin and apple pie. Menu for the supper Thursday evening: Chicken salad, baked beans, scalloped potatoes, beet pickles, cranberries, cake, tea and coffee.

Mrs. M. J. Major, tax collector, wishes to announce that the 1 per cent on taxes expired October 17, and from then 5 per cent will be charged.

There was a large attendance at Esopus Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, Wednesday evening. At the close of the council delicious refreshments were served by an efficient committee. At the next session, November 2, a candidate will be initiated. The degree team members are requested to be present.

Fowler's School Not for Kingston

Protestant Clergy Fail to Rally to Support of School to Teach Danger of Hypnotism in Religion and How to Combat It.

Prospects for the Rev. Mr. Fowler of the Independent Protestant Foundation, former editor of the late lamented publication named The Standard, locating a propaganda center in Kingston, seem to have waned to the vanishing point. Some time ago Mr. Fowler decided that this was a good place in which to locate a school for the training of workers in "the cause" and negotiated for the purchase of a property here. But there was something the matter financially and Mr. Fowler came to Kingston to address the Protestant clergy and obtain their support and the aid of their churches. This did not meet with any marked degree of success and the next move was to have a real estate agent visit the clergy personally and separately and ask them to sign an elaborate document in which they pledged the support of themselves and their churches to "the cause" and agreed to open their churches to speakers seeking support, moral and financial, for "the cause." This paper was to be signed by all the Protestant clergymen of the city and on condition that all signed it, the school was to be located here. Thus far it has been impossible to obtain the signatures of all the clergy—in fact it has been impossible up to date to find any clergyman who has signed. So "the cause" does not seem popular in Kingston and the school is probably seeking another—location.

Mr. Fowler explains that his Independent Protestant Foundation should be supported by the clergy and the churches because it is the only organization equipped to fight the inroads of Romanism, which, he says, now controls moving pictures and radio. Mr. Fowler is the man who, when editor of The Standard, filled many columns of that publication with elaborations of his theory that the Jesuits were masters of the art of hypnotism and were influencing such men as the Rev. S. Parkes Cadman, the Hon. Charles Evans Hughes, President Coolidge and scores of others who, through these machinations had "ceased to be 100 per cent Americans and had been seized on and used as tools for the advancement of Romanism." Mr. Fowler even charged that an effort had been made, hypnotically, to gain control over his own mind, but that he had repulsed it and he gave the method he had used and recommended it to others as their only defense against the hypnotist plot.

It was to teach these doctrines that the school was to founded in Kingston. This is not the dream of a reporter, but can be substantiated by the files of The Standard.

Business Girls Hear About Poetry

There was an enthusiastic meeting of the Business Girls' Club held on Wednesday evening at the weekly supper at the Y. W. C. A. The popular Jazz orchestra furnished peppy music and an additional musical treat was afforded the girls by Miss Mae ..., who gave two violin solos. There was also vocal singing. The speaker of the evening was the Rev. ... Withey, pastor of Trinity M. E. Church, who talked very interestingly to the girls about "Poetry". He made it quite plain that real poets were not just eccentric folks of little value in the world. They hold a vital place in life and have much to offer to any girl or woman or man whose days are business days. By way of illustration Mr. Withey quoted from Emerson, Wordsworth, Joyce Kilmer and Amy Lowell. Following the meeting the class in leather work was organized.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Reception from WJZ and WGY was perfect Wednesday night and the spark plug, coffee, toothpaste and other programs were greatly appreciated, the more so because these two stations were the only really good ones. WEAF and WOR were not bad, but outside these four very little could be heard except the buzz that began at 5:30 and was still going strong at 11 o'clock.

One of the announcers at WEAF is in such a hurry that his announcing of the station letters sounds very much like "WJF-New York." He should take the gum out of his mouth and be just a trifle more deliberate in his speech.

WSM and WLW were heard very feebly whispering amid the buzz.

General Motors is going on the air—and thus radio again demonstrates its arrival as an important factor in the economic and social life of the Nation. Over the largest single hookup of broadcasting stations used in any regular series of weekly concerts, General Motors will present an hour's program of "good music and other entertainment" every Monday evening from 9:30 to 10:30. The opening program will be broadcast on November 7, using WEAF and 27 other stations.

Mrs. Tompkins Gets Divorce.

An interlocutory judgment in divorce has been granted by Supreme Court Justice G. D. B. Hasbrouck to plaintiff in the action for a final decree brought by Bertha S. Tompkins against Claud Tompkins. The parties were married at Grahamsville on January 17, 1920, and the plaintiff's home is at Napanoch. Four children, issue of the marriage, are given into the custody of plaintiff and defendant is ordered to pay weekly alimony of $10 to plaintiff. H. Westlake Coons is attorney for plaintiff.

SUPERINTENDENT OF HOME

Miss Katherine Chipp, daughter of Mrs. J. Deyo Chipp of Clinton avenue, this city, has been chosen superintendent of the Field Home for Elderly Women of Westchester county, situated near Peekskill, on the road to Yorktown and opened last Saturday for public inspection. The home is the endowment of the late Cortlandt de Peyster Field in memory of his mother and will afford comfort for many homeless aged women in its setting of beautiful surroundings. The home with all modern conveniences and furnished handsomely will accommodate forty-two inmates, each to be assigned a private room. A most capable board of trustees will assist Miss Chipp in conducting the home, a fitting memorial and product of Mr. Field's desire to render service to humanity which had its beginning over forty years ago.

Nearly 3,000 Hear Marine Band

Armory Filled at Afternoon and Evening Concerts of U. S. Marine Band, Brought Here by Kingston Rotary Club.

Kingston is bound to be a more enthusiastic, more vibrant place because of the two wonderful concerts given by the U. S. Marine Band at the Armory Wednesday through the good offices of Kingston Rotary Club. The programs said "Service to the community—Service above self", "is the keynote of Rotary Club—Platform and Practice". Apparently the men in the Marine Band are all Rotarians, for their generosity in playing encores to the numbers on both the afternoon and evening programs was very great.

Kingston Rotary Club has done a fine thing for Kingston in bringing this band here and setting the price of admission so that over fourteen hundred people in the afternoon and about fifteen hundred in the evening could hear a concert that was masterly and as inspiring as only the most perfect band music can be! Best of all, about seven hundred children heard the afternoon program and they enjoyed every number. Their enjoyment as well as that of their elders was markedly enhanced by the manner in which the programs were prepared, giving a short but comprehensive sketch of each program number to be played. They made the concerts educational as well as delightful. It goes without saying that the musicianship of every man in the band is well-nigh perfect while Taylor Branson, leader, is such a masterly conductor as to have made out of the organization not only a band of the highest order, but an orchestra without strings.

If heard from the usual concert stage, one would consider each of the soloists, Arthur S. Witcomb, cornet; Wilbur D. Kieffer, xylophone; Harvey J. Clark, trombone; John P. White, cornet; Robert E. Clark, trombone, virtuosi of the first order.

The numbers on the afternoon program were:

Overture—"Russian and Ludmilla". Michael Ivanovich Glika
Solo for Xylophone—"Valse Caprice" ..... J. Wieniawaski
Wilbur D. Kieffer.
Intermezzo—"Petite Bijouterie" ..... Carl Bohm
Solo for Cornet—"The Premier" ..... Edward Llewellyn
Arthur S. Witcomb
"Second Polonaise" ..... Franz Liszt
Intermission.
"Tell It to the Marines" ..... Taylor Branson
Solo for Trombone—"Wonderland Waltz" ..... Bert Smith
Harvey J. Clark.
Morceau Characteristique "Pan-America" ..... Victor Herbert
"Reminiscences of Tschaikowsky" ..... A. P. Godfrey
THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER

In the evening the program was as follows:
"Les Preludes" ..... Franz Liszt
Caprice—"Eglantine" ..... Edward Van Loock
Solo for Cornet—"Scherzo 'Showers of Gold'" ..... Herbert Clark
John P. White
"Capriccio Espagnol" ..... Nicholas Rimsky-Korsakov
Intermission.
Scherzo "The Sorcerer's Apprentice" ..... Paul Dukas
Solo for Trombone—"May Blossoms" ..... Robert E. Clark
Robert E. Clark.
"Pasquinade" ..... Louis Morceau Gottschalk
"Finale Fourth Symphony" ..... Peter Ilich Tschaikowsky
THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER

Several encores were played after each number's enthusiastic applause, and they were old Civil War favorites, ballads old and new, the best of modern jazz, heart-touching songs of yesterday and today and thrilling military marches.

Kingston High School Events

Tuesday was bank day at Kingston High School and 447 students banked $367.12. This brings the high school average up to forty-eight per cent. This is the largest per cent so far registered.

Four rooms, two occupied by upper classmen and two by under classmen have reached the 100 per cent mark. They are: Room 10, Loomis Myers, banker; Room 11, Garton Wagar, banker; Room 28, Andrew Ferguson, banker and Room 20, Sidney Samuels, banker.

The honor rooms, seven in number, are as follows: Room 33, Robert Deyo, banker; 99 per cent. Room 29, Albert Rooks, banker 96 per cent. Room 23, Margaret Lachman, banker, 61 per cent. Room 22, Phyllis Osterhoudt, banker, 57 per cent. Room 24 Ruth Vondenburg, banker, 55 per cent. Room, 31, Stephen Kowal, banker, 54 per cent and Room 6, Isabelle Brigham, banker 50 per cent.

The students belonging to the Bankers' Association, that is those who record the banking every week, are used for other purposes. Most prominent of these are solicitors for the Athletic Association drive and ticket sellers for the various school organizations.

Juniors Organize.

The Junior Class met and organized in Hall B. The juniors chose for their president, Kenneth Happy; vice president, Miss Harriet Cranston; secretary, Miss Mildred Healy and treasurer, Alfred Lynch.

A. A. Drive Ended.

The Athletic Association drive ended last week with over 725 members. Instructor R. H. Woodard announces that this is a record breaking membership. Much of the success of the A. A. drive is due to the efforts put forth by the Bankers' Association.

KINGSTON MAN INHERITS FROM UNCLE'S ESTATE.

New York, Oct. 20.—(Special)—Albert Kursheedt of 303 Main street, Kingston, N. Y., is the recipient of an eleventh of the estate left by his uncle, the late Roland S. Kursheedt, according to the report of the State Transfer Tax Department filed here today. The bequest amounts to $9,198.

Mr. Kursheedt died June 24 last, leaving an estate which today's appraisal sets at $109,511 gross, net value $101,486. Alphonse Kursheedt of White Plains is executor.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Perfect Machine To Solve Problems

The Product Integraph, an Electrical Machine, Solves Problems Too Complex for the Human Brain—Operation of Machine.

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 20 (AP)—An electrical machine with a "mechanical mind" that solves involved mathematical problems too complex for the human brain has been perfected at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology by Dr. Vannevar Bush, professor of electric power transmission, and a staff of research workers.

The institute, in announcing the development today, said the apparatus, known as a "product integraph", will open the way to hitherto inaccessible fields of research. These are expected to lie largely along electrical lines, as the work was begun several years ago in an effort to evolve a machine that would solve rapidly and accurately problems of advanced electrical theory which have troubled engineers.

"The product integraph," Dr. Bush explained, "might be called an adding machine carried to an extreme in its design. Where workers in the business world are ordinarily satisfied with addition, subtraction, multiplication and division of numbers, the engineer deals with curves and graphs which represent for him the past, present and future of the things in which he deals."

In operating the machine the mathematician or engineer, in effect, feeds into it the equations and parts of the problem which cannot now by solved by formal mathematics. The answer is turned out in from eight minutes to a few hours.

A watt hour meter, similar to those used in homes for recording electrical power consumption, is the foundation of the machine. The engineer plots on paper the equations used and these are passed slowly under pointers which operators stationed along the apparatus keep on the curves of the plots. As the pointers move along the curves, the power flowing through the meter varies proportionately and that used is totaled and recorded. The meter controls a motor which drives a pencil along another moving sheet of paper on which a curve, known as the integral, is traced and this is the result sought.
